ANGRY: Robert Brewington was given another patient's drugs by the pharmacy at Princess Alexandra Hospital

PAH PILLS BLUNDER

A FURIOUS pensioner has criticised Princess Alexandra Hospital after pharmacists sent him home with another patient's drugs

Robert Brewington (66), of Hull Grove, Harlow, was issued with drugs intended for someone else after handing in his prescription at the on-site pharmacy.

Earlier in the day he had attended the hospital for an angiogram – an X-ray of blood vessels – after which doctors prescribed him tablets for his heart and stomach.

But when he returned home

By CHRIS MOSS

moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

and checked the dosage instructions for the pills, he was shocked to discover he had been given drugs intended for another patient suffering from a completely different illness.

"I couldn't believe it when I put on my glasses and checked the labels on the tablets," he told the Star. "There was some other bloke's name and address on every one of the boxes."

"God only knows what these pills were for or what would have happened if I hadn't checked first. I probably would have ended up back in hospital."

When Mr Brewington returned to PAH the following day to hand back the pills and pick up his correct prescription, he was left fuming when pharmacy staff failed to apologise for their mistake.

"I thought it was disgusting that the pharmacist couldn't even be bothered to give me an apology," he said. "It was surely their fault."

"What I want to know is how they could get this so wrong in the first place. Did the chap whose pills I'd been given get mine? This could have been a matter of life and death for all I know."

This week a hospital spokesman acknowledged there had been a mistake and apologised to Mr Brewington for what he described as the "slip-up".

"We would like to assure Mr Brewington that this incident is currently being investigated to ensure it does not happen again," he added.

Cameron in the hot seat

CONSERVATIVE Party leader David Cameron will visit Old Harlow next week to hold a public question-and-answer session.

The event, at St John's Arts and Recreation Centre, takes place on Tuesday from 6.30pm, and is the first in a series of town hall-style meetings the Leader of the Opposition plans to hold across the country.

Conservative Central Office said the aim was to allow people of all political persuasions to put their views to Mr Cameron directly and to allow people to quiz him about his stance on important issues.

Places are free but tickets must be booked in advance. Call (01279) 429251 or apply by email to lee.dangerfield@harlow-conservatives.co.uk

Threat to weekly refuse collection

WEEKLY refuse collections could be axed and households issued with wheeled bins under plans being considered by Harlow Council.

A cross-party working group of councillors has identified moving to fortnightly collections of domestic rubbish as the preferred option for the future of waste management in the town, the Star understands.

If adopted, the plans will see the

EXCLUSIVE
By BEN WILKINSON
Chief Reporter

issuing of black bin bags become a thing of the past and households instead given different bins for recyclable items, compostable food waste and non-recyclable rubbish for landfill.

While the food waste would continue to be collected weekly, non-recyclable refuse – including many items of food packaging – would only be picked up on a fortnightly basis.

The proposed changes, which would come in after April 2009 when the council's existing refuse contract expires, are to be considered by the environment and community committee in the summer.

While the previous Labour/Liberal Democrat coalition at the council guaranteed the future of the weekly black sack refuse collection, the new Conservative administration elected earlier this month has only pledged to retain weekly collections of food waste.

Harlow Council confirmed this week that a preferred option had been adopted by the working group but refused to disclose any details of it.

The possible change has led to fears that wheeled bins could become health hazards during the summer months.

Opposition councillor and former joint council leader Tony Durcan (Labour) said: "A lot of food wrapping is not recyclable. If that kind of waste is hanging around for up to a fortnight throughout the summer it's going to cause problems."

He added: "Aside from hygiene concerns, Harlow is simply not designed for wheeled bins. This isn't Uttlesford or Epping Forest, it's a new town designed with some core principles."

"We'll be saying goodbye to Sir Frederick Gibberd's principles of open areas and turning our front gardens into a sea of green plastic wheeled bins with house numbers painted on them in big white letters. I don't think people want that."

Man arrested and bailed after armed police swoop on house

ARMED police swooped on a house in Harlow and arrested a man on suspicion of sexual assault, false imprisonment and abduction. Officers surrounded the property in Hornbeams before detaining the suspect.

The operation took place last Tuesday but details have only just been released by police.

One eyewitness, who did not wish to be named, told the Star: "There were officers with riot shields and some had guns. It's not the sort of thing you expect to see."

"The police wouldn't tell us what it was about but it looked pretty serious."

A police spokeswoman said: "Officers put a containment around the house and a man was spoken to and arrested on suspicion of abduction, sexual assault and false imprisonment."

She also confirmed armed officers were present but said no shots were fired.

A 53-year-old man has been released on police bail pending further inquiries until August 15.

Rainbow revellers

PROUD Rainbows have celebrated the 10th anniversary of the Church Langley unit.

The youngsters were joined by former members, parents and helpers at a party which included a performance by children's entertainer Tricky Dicky and a birthday cake.

Everyone left the celebration at Church Langley Community Centre with their own party bag and commemorative badge, while the group raised £325 for the Little Havens Childrens Hospice.

Rainbow guider Valerie

Murphy said: "It was a wonderful occasion and everyone had a fantastic time. It was great to see some old faces, and the children really enjoyed the entertainment."

"We're the longest-running Rainbows group in the Harlow area and we felt it was very important to celebrate our 10th anniversary with a big party."

The Rainbows are currently seeking more adult helpers. Anyone interested in volunteering should ring Valerie on 07831 153857.

Image a key factor in town's development

THE need to change people's perceptions of Harlow was the overriding message at a meeting of the local strategic partnership tasked with shaping the town's future.

Friday's forum at the Civic Centre was only the second occasion Harlow 2020 – a partnership of public, private and voluntary sector organisations set up in 2001 – has held a meeting in public.

A presentation by marketing and communications spokeswoman Ruth Osborne laid out plans for the partnership to improve its image.

On the same theme, Harlow Renaissance chief executive Andrew Bramidge presented the results of a town-wide consultation from which it has developed a new brand image and logo with the tagline: "Harlow – See Something Different".

Mr Bramidge told the meeting: "Openness is something which underpins this campaign and gives off a can-do attitude. It says this is a town that's going places."

Harlow Council's head of community services Lynn Seward said she was keen to change the image of Harlow in the minds of some residents. "We need to target taxi drivers who spend the whole journey across town running down Harlow and things such as the Gateway scheme."

"If we can target them and get them more positive then we should."

When even prangs were a class act

THANKS to Colleen Morrison for this old newspaper photograph taken at the junction of Churchgate Street and Sheering Road in 1960, showing that traffic hold-ups are nothing new in Harlow. Colleen joked: "This picture is almost a metaphor for the class war in Harlow – a working bloke in a little Hillman has a head-on with a Volvo driven by a toff using a cigarette holder!"

Keeping the Press at arm's length

DEREK Hawes' recent contribution, recalling the large public meetings which took place in Harlow, jogged memories for two correspondents.

Former Star journalist Bridget McAlpine remembers working with Mr Hawes back in the early 1970s. "When I joined the old Harlow Gazette, Derek was press officer for Harlow Council, which in those days did not allow the press and public to attend its committee meetings. "It sounds incredible now, but we were only allowed to attend the full council meetings which were, in effect, just a rubber-stamp. "To get any information on committee proceedings, reporters had to troop along to Derek's office the following day and he would give us a resume of what had occurred. "It took a change in local government regulations to force the council to open up its committees." Meanwhile, Ron Bill also recalls some of the lively gatherings to which Mr Hawes referred and provided Nostalgia with the programme of one which he organised: 'Poverty '77 – A Community Conference'. The introduction reads: "During the last decade as our 'affluent society' has outwardly manifested many signs of improving living standards, the relative position of families in poverty has declined. Despite various new policies introduced by successive Governments, the number of families in poverty continues to increase. In the present economic situation this trend is accentuated. "This conference is called in response to this situation."

Visit to town by Supermac

By BEN WILKINSON

HARLOW has had the pleasure of welcoming several Prime Ministers over the years, the most recent being Gordon Brown who turned up on the very day he was appointed.

But reader Sheila Hiller remembers a much earlier resident of 10 Downing Street, Harold Macmillan, arriving for a visit back in 1959.

Mrs Hiller, of Upper Park, was vice chairwoman of Harlow's YMCA when it launched the town's first Holiday Play Scheme in 1956.

By 1959, the scheme had grown significantly to use four playing fields and 'Supermac', as the PM was nicknamed, insisted on having a look while he was here.

Our picture shows Mr Macmillan presenting prizes to the winners of a netball competition. The lady in the spotted dress is Mrs Hiller but we have been unable to identify the girl.

"Mr Macmillan toured the fields and presented prizes at The Dashes," recalls Mrs Hiller. "He was given a deep crimson carnation, which had been provided free of charge to the Y by Country Gardens.

"A volunteer, Mr Willis, refereed the boys' football on the day of the Prime Minister's visit. Mr Macmillan spoke to all the competitors after the netball competition, saying how proud they should be to be growing up in such a beautiful new town."

She continued: "Eventually, the Y handed over the Play Scheme to Harlow Council, but the idea and its success stemmed from voluntary work and the work of local teachers and others who enrolled to help in the holidays.

"In summer 1960 the summer holiday scheme was organised by George Torkildsen, who went on to run the Harlow Sportcentre."

25 YEARS AGO

June 2, 1983

2,000 MORE JOBS

MORE than 2,000 of Harlow's jobless could be employed during the next three years by an international cleaning company which has set up its head office in Harlow.

Impact Cleaning and Maintenance Services on the Pasadena Estate moved to the town about four months ago and has already employed 222 people at its new offices.

HAYES ANGER OVER RENTS

CONSERVATIVE candidate Jerry Hayes called for the abolition of the New Towns Commission as election fever turned to Harlow's high industrial rents this week.

Mr Hayes said the commission was charging a lot more rent for freehold property than was paid on the open market and that businesses could get similar property much cheaper in Bishop's Stortford.

LABOUR LEADER HERE

A HERO'S welcome was given to Labour leader Michael Foot when he paid a flying visit to Harlow to join the General Election campaign yesterday.

Banner-waving crowds gave him the loudest cheer when he said: "We must put a stop to this ludicrous arms race."

NEW LOOK FOR BUS STATION

TERMINUS Street, home of the town's bus station, may soon get a new look at an estimated cost of £250,000.

A working party has been set up by Harlow Council to look into the problems of design and broken surfaces, and provision of new and better facilities.

Killer's sentence 'is no deterrent'

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

THE mother of a Harlow man killed by a former boxer during a violent brawl has lashed out at the British justice system for failing her son.

Tina Clark (48), of Tithelands, said she was horrified that Colin Ansell, who had previous convictions for violence, was sentenced to just six-and-a-half years in jail for the manslaughter of her son, Lee Williams.

Speaking to the Star this week, she said she felt let down by the Crown Prosecution Service and was sickened by the fact her son's killer could be out of prison in as little as two years.

"The fact that Colin Ansell had a history of violence and crime showed what sort of man he is and for me to have to accept that he could be out of prison and back with his family in as little as two years is very hard," she said.

"This seems to be becoming an epidemic in this country. Every time you look at the papers there's news of another murder. I think the justice system is failing the victims of these terrible crimes."

Mr Williams (26) died after being punched

at least twice by Ansell in an altercation in The Hides on April 15 last year.

Ansell (29), of Pittmans Field, Harlow, was sentenced at Chelmsford Crown Court which had earlier been told Mr Williams started the fight that led to his death following a confrontation with one of Ansell's friends outside a nightclub in Harlow town centre earlier the same night – a claim that Mrs Clark disputes.

"I know that people will expect me to say this because I'm his mum but I'm sure Lee would never have gone as far as that man did in killing him," she said. "He was a lovely lad with a good heart who always worked hard and had lots of loyal friends."

"I will do and say anything I can to help support families who, like mine, are ripped apart by horrible crimes like this. It's time for the courts to send out a clear message to the thugs responsible otherwise things are just going to get worse."

Factory workers fooled by a cypcat blackbird

WORKERS at a factory in Harlow are being driven to distraction by a blackbird imitating sounds from its surroundings.

The bird's chirps have been mistaken for reversing lorries, mobile phones and even forklift truck signals.

Staff at chemical manufacturers Yule Catto, in Edinburgh Way, say it is so realistic they have been fooled into thinking deliveries have arrived when it sings.

"It's driving some of the staff up the wall," said research and development engineer Ian Stradling. "Some of the office staff have even asked for us to tell the lorry drivers to stop reversing all the time because they can't concentrate on their work."

"Making his sounds in the car park is his favourite and it is amazing as you really cannot tell the difference between the bird and the real thing."

The Eurasian blackbird is well known for mimicking sounds. One even appeared on a CD compiled by the British Library in 2006 for sounding like a computer modem.

Experts say the behaviour is quite common, particularly among birds in captivity which often learn to copy the voice of their owners for rewards.

However, Mr Stradling said: "It is quite possible this bird is going to cause absolute mayhem."

MP faces wrath of pro-life lobby

PRO-LIFE campaigners have vowed to put up a candidate in Harlow at the next General Election after town MP Bill Rammell voted against a reduction in the time limit for legal abortions.

MPs rejected a bid to lower the time limit for termination from 24 weeks to either 22 or 20 – and Mr Rammell was among those who opposed the move.

Those in favour of the change said it was necessary because advances in science meant a baby born prematurely at 23 or 24 weeks can now survive to live a normal, healthy life.

The Alive and Kicking Alliance has now announced it will stand in a number of marginal seats where MPs voted for the status quo, including Harlow where Mr Rammell will be defending a majority of 97.

A campaign spokesman said: "In many cases if we affect only a few hundred votes that will be enough."

But Mr Rammell attacked the move as distasteful, adding: "I think most people recognise that votes on abortion are a matter of conscience."

"I don't believe people want American-style politics where anti- or pro-life campaigners have such a hold on Government."

"Abortion is awful and both through better family planning and better availability of adoption I would like to see the number of abortions reduced. However, I also believe women have the right to choose which is why I voted the way I did."

Council's chairman is former policeman

A RETIRED policeman is the new chairman of Harlow Council.

Conservative Tony Hall, pictured above, was elected by colleagues at the first meeting of the new Tory-controlled authority on Thursday.

Mr Hall, who represents the Church Langley ward and has served as a local councillor for six years, received the chain of office from outgoing chairwoman Lorna Spenceley.

Mr Hall announced his charity for the year would be Child Victims of Crime, adding that he hoped to break with recent tradition by appointing a council chaplain and resurrecting the town's Civic Service.

Labour councillor Edna Stevens was appointed vice-chairwoman.

Learning showcase

ADULTS keen to return to education got the chance to see the options available to them at a special drop-in day in Harlow.

The event at the Rivermill Centre last Wednesday was run by Essex County Council Adult Community Learning and included taster sessions on everything from first aid and beauty therapy to book-keeping and meditation.

Seventh rail victim named

THE seventh person to die on the rail line through Harlow in the past three months has been named as David Cush (55), of Kimberley Close, Bishop's Stortford. Mr Cush was struck by a train at Harlow Town station on May 17. Police had initially sent out an appeal for help after he went missing from his home.

An inquest into his death has been opened and adjourned.

Drugs raid cops target town flats

By BEN WILKINSON

FIVE people were arrested after 50 police and sniffer dogs raided a young people's accommodation block in Harlow as part of an anti-drugs operation.

Plain-clothed and uniformed officers swooped on the flats at Occasio House in the town centre at about 7pm on Thursday after obtaining 18 arrest warrants issued by the courts.

The five people arrested were suspected of various offences including possession of drugs and handling stolen goods.

People going in and out of the building were systematically searched for drugs and weapons.

The operation – codenamed Firestorm – was mounted during National Tackling Drugs Week and involved officers from Essex Police's western division. It was designed to target people suspected of being involved in drug-related crime.

Detective Inspector Denise Morrissey, who headed the operation said: "Over the past year 174 incidents such as anti-social behaviour and drugs have been reported in Harlow.

"The purpose of the operation was to detect

those suspected of dealing drugs, to prevent and deter any further offending and to provide public reassurance. We will continue to target anyone suspected of dealing drugs or causing a nuisance in our community."

Of the five people arrested, a 25-year-old man was released on police bail until July 11 pending further inquiries after being arrested in suspicion of possessing Class A drugs and handling stolen goods, a 19-year-old man was charged with possession of cannabis and released on bail to appear at Harlow Court next month, a 21-year-old man was cautioned for a cannabis offence, a 17-year-old man was taken into custody on suspicion of handling stolen goods but later released without charge, and a 24-year-old man arrested on suspicion of assault was released on police bail until July 23 pending further inquiries.

WITH just a few days to go before the deadline for entries to the Midnight Walk in aid of St Clare Hospice, entries are still coming in thick and fast.

Among the latest recruits to sign up is this group from the Sainsbury's store in Harlow.

If you haven't already registered to take part you will have to be quick. The closing date for registration has been extended until June 6 which means you have only 8 days to sign up. More than 1,000 people have already done so but there is still room for more.

The Midnight Walk – which is being supported by the Star, our sister paper the Bishop's Stortford Observer and Ten-17fm – will be the hospice's biggest single fundraising event of the year. The walk, which takes place on Saturday, June 21, will follow a 10km route around Harlow's network of cycle paths. It is NOT a race or a run; you can go at your own pace.

Registration could not be simpler – you can request a pack by telephone or, even easier, register online. Just follow the instructions in the panel.

The cost of registration is £15 per walker but of course you can raise much more for the hospice by getting yourself sponsored. To take part you must be over the age of 16. Places are limited and will be allocated in the order entries are processed. Everyone who takes part will receive a special T-shirt and goody bag when they arrive on the night.

How to register

BY PHONE: Sign up by ringing the Midnight Walk hotline on (01279) 773759

ONLINE: Visit the website www.stclare-hospice.co.uk and follow the links to the

Every year the hospice provides care and support for hundreds of patients with life-limiting illnesses and their families in West Essex and East Herts, but it costs a lot of money – over £2m annually – to provide these services. Yet it receives only 30 per cent of its funding from the NHS.

Head of communications Giles Wright said: "The Midnight Walk is your chance to support your local hospice charity and enable us to be there for hundreds of local people this year."

So please, if you haven't already signed up to take part, do so today. You'll have a great time and, more importantly, you'll be raising cash for a local worthy cause.

Church rebuild to include flats

ALTAR-ATIONS: Pastor Paul Fry outside the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer which could be demolished and rebuilt

A CRUMBLING church building in need of thousands of pounds of maintenance could be demolished and rebuilt as part of a new housing development.

Plans submitted to Harlow Council would see the 40-year-old Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, in Bush Fair, replaced with a new place of worship and 14 flats.

As well as overcoming the problem of the mounting cost of maintaining the ageing building, pastor Paul Fry believes the scheme will herald a new era for the church and bring it closer to the community it serves.

Under the proposals, the new church would feature a multi-purpose hall suitable for Sunday services as well as use as a meeting room by community groups or local businesses at other times.

A dilapidated house on the site would be demolished, as would the drab and uninviting perimeter wall which surrounds the church.

Eight two-bedroom and six one-bedroom flats and a car park would be built on the site

By BEN WILKINSON
Chief Reporter

wilkinsonb@hertsexnews.co.uk

with work starting within months if Harlow Council's planning committee approves the scheme when it considers it in July.

Mr Fry told the Star: "This building holds good memories for a lot of people but the unfortunate truth is that it's rapidly becoming unviable. The continuing maintenance of this building is beyond our financial capabilities."

"That said, I think this is a great opportunity for us to strengthen our ties with the community, to provide an excellent facility for the Bush Fair area and, as a church, to move forward into the 21st century."

The Lutheran Church has been on its site next to the Poplar Kitten pub since 1955. Its present base opened in 1968 and it is hoped some of existing furniture and fittings will be included in the new building.

The church is putting the plans on public display at its 'Not Just Coffee' mornings on Thursdays from 10.30am-12.30pm.

Anglers without licences landed with hefty fines

SIXTEEN anglers caught without rod licences have been ordered to pay thousands of pounds in fines after they were hauled before the courts.

The Environment Agency caught the culprits on separate occasions between October last year and January this year at six different locations including a lake in Harlow.

Speaking after the hearing, Environment Agency regional fisheries specialist Matt Carter said he was pleased with the outcome of the prosecutions.

"Those who try to cheat the system and avoid buying a rod licence are cheating their fellow anglers," he said. "All money raised from rod licence sales is put back into improving the environment for wildlife and anglers."

Hollywood legends at home in Harlow

A LITTLE bit of Hollywood has come to a care home in Harlow after it was given a makeover fit for the stars.

Residents at Ashlyn Care Centre, in Vicarage Wood, have had part of the building transformed into Hollywood Boulevard, themed around 1950s film stars, as part of an 18-month refurbishment which also saw the building extended.

Other themed areas include Coronation Street – based around the Queen's coronation – and Market Way, an area dedicated to household products of yesteryear.

The residents came up with the ideas themselves as a way of sprucing up the home, which coincided with the opening of its new extension which has seen it increase from a 43 to 60-bed centre.

The official re-opening ceremony was performed by Harlow MP Bill Rammell.

Neighbourhood policing

what does it mean to you?

You now have a neighbourhood policing team in your area. This team is led by an inspector and will include a police sergeant, police constable and police community support officers as well as local authority employees - people whose job it is to make your community a safer place to live.

You can now expect to:

- See increased numbers of officers patrolling the streets, addressing anti-social behaviour and engaging with residents.
- Have information about how your local force will police where you live and know how you can contact your neighbourhood policing team.
- Have the opportunity to tell your neighbourhood policing team about the issues which concern you and help shape a response.

“Neighbourhood policing teams will work with other agencies to create safer and secure neighbourhoods where residents, police and partners work together to identify, understand and tackle the issues that matter the most. The problems that matter to you also matter to me and your neighbourhood.”

Roger Baker, Chief Constable of Essex Police

“Neighbourhood policing in Essex is going from strength to strength. Our neighbourhood policing teams are making a real positive difference. Every neighbourhood has officers and staff dedicated to identifying local issues that affect the quality of life and working with the community to resolve them. I strongly believe that this style of policing is really providing the people of Essex with the service they not only want but deserve.”

Robert Chambers, Chairman of Essex Police Authority

Neighbourhood policing in Essex

The philosophy behind neighbourhood policing is to have the right people, in the right places, in the right numbers, in order to create neighbourhoods that are safe and feel safe.

Each neighbourhood policing team (NPT) has a designated single point of contact, known as a neighbourhood specialist officer (NSO). Numerous beat surgeries and public meetings are held across Essex giving residents the opportunity to pop in and talk to their local officers.

For details go to www.essex.police.uk/yourarea. Not everyone will be able to get to the surgeries, so Essex Police has a number of methods to suit everyone's preferred means of communication and to keep them up-to-date with relevant information. Using the internet you can find out the name of your NSO by logging on to www.essex.police.uk/yourarea and entering your postcode. You will also find contact details, local news, dates of meetings, police station opening hours and a means of submitting information or questions to your neighbourhood team. You can also subscribe to the monthly newsletter 'Upbeat'.

If you have a mobile phone and you want to know who your local officer is, text your postcode to 07624 800101. Each of the neighbourhood policing teams has its own mobile telephone that you can ring to discuss local concerns. For the reporting of crimes the 24hr non-emergency number 0300 333 4444 should be used or 999 for emergencies. You can also provide information you have about crimes and criminals to Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Getting to the heart of the community

Getting in and amongst the community is the most important part of a winning neighbourhood special officer, Pc Alex Plakhtienko's role.

“Neighbourhood policing allows individual officers, like myself, to offer personal assistance to members of the public,” said Pc Plakhtienko.

“Spending time with people and interacting with them has positive effects. When patrolling the local area I try and develop a relationship where I am on first name terms with those I meet.” Establishing links with the community has made it easier for neighbourhood specialist officers to find solutions to the problems that matter most to local people. Pc Plakhtienko has made strong bonds with young people in his area by organising for officers to take an active role in local schools. He has also encouraged young people to attend the local youth club and by helping to promote it, the club has received much needed donations. He said: “During my day I could be conducting house to house enquiries, visiting victims of crime, the vulnerable and the elderly to offer support. I also patrol any hot spot areas. I always ensure that the community is updated via the Essex Police website regarding crime patterns in the area. This could be about burglaries, theft of motor vehicles or bogus callers.

“I regularly patrol my neighbourhood and attend meetings such as community action panels and neighbourhood watch meetings giving us the opportunity to discuss local issues.

“The community is very important to me and my colleagues who I have the pleasure to work alongside. Working with the community is a challenge but one that has massive rewards.”

Every neighbourhood is different and so are the problems that matter to residents. That is why neighbourhood policing is so important.

No expense spared

SIR, Having visited Harlow College recently I was struck by the extraordinary scale of the new developments and buildings now in place for students to use.

The new facilities for sixth form subjects, performing arts and catering were truly impressive. It is apparent that no expense is being spared in terms of Government money being poured into facilities to provide the essential infrastructure that learners need.

It is, therefore, all the more remarkable that the quality of education provided at the college is not adequate and that the results are so dire. One thing is certain, the principal cannot possibly blame a lack of resources or funding.

Many serious concerns were raised at the meeting at Harlow College and the principal himself seemed to acknowledge the folly of 'Subject Days' where he had timetable students to study the same subject all day. He conceded that subjects which take place only on Mondays are suffering because of the bank holidays in May.

Now I learn that students are being withdrawn from exams because they are likely to fail them and being transferred on to very short courses which will give them a certificate for a simple assignments they cannot fail after a few hours training. Because the students have been transferred rather than withdrawn, their original failure to complete the A-level course will not be recorded in the success rate data.

This is not putting the students at the heart of the college. It is a cynical manipulation of data that obscures the reality of a public service letting down its students. Mr Hindmarch has all the money he wants, all the facilities, the staff he wants and the support of the minister and governing board.

Sixteen months ago, Mr Hindmarch said that he would not send a child of his to Harlow College because of the faults it had. Now he has got the college he wants, would he reconsider? Moreover, would Bill Rammell ever put a child of his into a college run by Mr Hindmarch?

It's not vigilantes

SIR, I write in reply to Julian B. Thomas regarding vigilante activity in Jerounds (Letters, May 15).

Mosque objections were based on location, not race or religion

SIR, I would like to take this opportunity to take issue with the views and comments of Frank Jackson (Letters, May 15) in respect of the proposed mosque on the site of the Kingsmoor Recreation Centre.

Unlike Mr Jackson, I was actually in attendance at the meeting of local residents. He is quite right in congratulating Christine Odell for her being willing to express her personal views on the proposal; it certainly took an amount of courage for her to do so as it was clearly evident that the vast majority of the meeting were opposed to the planning application which has now apparently been withdrawn.

However, Mrs Odell's arguments in favour of the proposed mosque fell away completely when she basically accused everyone else in the room of being racist. This was the only real time that the meeting in any way turned hostile as people took immediate umbrage against this accusation.

There was also absolutely no mention at all to Muslims being referred to as "monsters" as perhaps being implied by Mr Jackson in his bizarre reference to the gipsies and travellers site issue 40 years ago.

The attendees at the meeting never once made direct reference to opposing the application on the grounds of race or religion. The opposition was based on sound arguments that included, amongst others, unsuitability because of parking and traffic congestion in the immediate area, the building not being in keeping with the local vicinity and the application for change of use to Class D1 does not allow for any residential use although the plans included accommodation for the resident Imam.

The nearest that any objection got to religious beliefs was by reference to the body washing area included in the plans. Many people thought it inappropriate that a facility for washing the deceased should be sited so close to a junior school.

The part of Jerounds we live in has a shortcut through it and is used by lots of people as a thoroughfare. During the 15 years that I have lived

On this particular point, given that the actual planning proposal was described as being to provide a community centre for the local Muslim population, quite why a normal community centre (as opposed to a place of worship) should require such a facility is beyond me and is perhaps a case of someone being somewhat economical with the truth in the wording of the actual application.

C. Wright
Morningsons, Harlow

SIR, I would like to point out to Frank Jackson and Christine Odell, the lady who spoke out for the rights of Muslims at the meeting at Milwards School, that we were not objecting to the plans for racist reasons. It was purely due to the location.

I note Mr Jackson lives on the other side of Southern Way so he would not be directly affected by the problems that this would bring, especially the parking issues. There could be up to 600 people using this mosque at any one time yet there was no parking provision in the plans.

I can't understand how anyone can think that a suitable location for a mosque is just feet away from a primary school playground. My son attends the nursery at Milwards School and I don't want to walk him past a building every day where there is going to be a body washing facility to prepare dead bodies for burial.

I read the statement from Mr Wadiwala, the project manager, who says that this is no different from walking past an undertakers on any High Street! The fact is that an undertakers would not be allowed to be located next door to a primary school and nursery.

It is completely inappropriate and impractical and I feel sure from the turnout at the meeting that if the plans are re-submitted we will all object again.

Caroline Elliott
Watersmeet, Harlow

in Jerounds I have had the windscreen taken out of my car and thrown down the park, I have had my car door window smashed, door mirrors bent backwards and completely broken off a few times, the door has been kicked in and dented countless times and I have had my car keyed on numerous occasions.

I have also witnessed a drunken man walk over the entire length of parked cars in the street, jumping from one to another to do so, and another ride past on a bike using his foot to kick and push off each car as he rode past.

I could go on with an endless list of things that have happened, all late at night and by a minority of people using the shortcut.

Perhaps because the American pick-up truck is so big and different it stands out to drunken revellers or people who just find it amusing to damage property. They see this as a target for their fun on their way through to wherever they may be going. If it wasn't this truck, it would be someone else's car or property they damage.

I know that some, if not most, of my neighbours have had something happen to their vehicles or property at some point so I don't think that this is a personal vendetta or vigilante behaviour against Mr Thomas as I honestly feel that none of my neighbours have a malicious streak amongst them. Unfortunately, it's just what happens here in Jerounds late at night.

So, Mr Thomas, I would suggest the only one who has a problem with your truck and caravan is yourself as you seem to be the only one worrying about it.

Elaine O'Connell
Jerounds, Harlow

Direct and simple

SIR, Derek Brown advises me that the Chelmsford buses run once an hour (Letters, May 22). This is the case with all of the buses in the Essex area, the exception being with one or two of the inter-Harlow routes.

However, he seems to have missed the point. Why would Mr McGrath need to travel from Harlow to Sheering in order to catch a bus to Chelmsford? The 59 bus to Chelmsford runs from Harlow bus station hourly, so why can he not take the first one after 9.30 am from Harlow bus station? Sounds pretty simple to me!

Plan the perfect party

Fail to plan - plan to fail!

Have the perfect party!

ARE you planning a party this summer?

A little forward planning goes a long way to ensure that your event is perfect, so make sure you take the time necessary, enlist the help of the experts you need on this page!

Before you set a date, check with your 10 most important people that they will be able to attend.

Also, if possible, avoid obvious busy times such as bank holidays or high summer, when many people are on holiday.

Also avoid days when big sporting events are taking place, times when other gatherings may be happening and weekdays, if most your guests work long hours.

Work out the number of people you wish to invite and can afford to cater for. As a rough guide, for every 50 people, expect about five not to attend. Large events need large venues and many of these get booked up, so one of your first jobs should be to find somewhere that can cater for the numbers on the date you require.

If you're intending to hold the party at home, remember it's not just a matter of enough space, you'll also need extra plates, cutlery, glasses etc. Beg or borrow from neighbours or the caterer.

If the party is to be a surprise or a have special theme, make that clear right from the start. Theme parties can work well (anything from toga or pyjama parties to murder mysteries and '70s nights), but bear in mind your guests' likely response to such invites. Pick a great theme and it can really make a party, as well as providing you with a great collection of photos.

When selecting your entertainment, always use a reputable band or DJ and make sure you can listen to the band or DJ before you hire them. Personal recommendation is always a good place to start, but try to select a band which will suit the tastes of all your guests.

Ask for a list of songs from the band's repertoire. Also, be sure to check the venue you have booked for your reception has enough space to accommodate your band or DJ and that there is an adequate electricity supply.

Getting the food right is vitally important at any special occasion. If you're using caterers, explain exactly what you want and avoid disappointment on the day. Choose your menu with care.

No matter what budget you are working to, the best parties are those where the host or hostess can relax. Using professionals leaves you free to concentrate on the "what", not the "how" and ensures there will be no last-minute panics or hassles.

So why not allow the experts featured here to help you make your party perfect!

Pupils take three Rs to heart

(photo: PL92NGSB/07)

HIGH WYCH PRIMARY: A special guest was invited to the school when a new green plot was unveiled.

Mark Prisk, MP for the Hertford and Stortford constituency and shadow minister for small enterprise, cut the ribbon on the new allotment and presented the school with an eco-school silver medal.

The school's eco-council, which is made up from a member of each year group, helped secure the award with their rigorous three Rs approach – reduce, reuse and recycle.

The allotment is the latest in a line of green changes the eco-council has introduced at the school. A spokeswoman said: "By propagating, nurturing and harvesting fruit and vegetables, cooking and eating the produce and then collecting the recycling food waste to create compost, the children will be involved in the complete life cycle."

Challenges prove a lot of fun

POTTER STREET PRIMARY: A whole week of fun was topped off with a day of challenges to get pupils' minds working.

The challenge day saw all the year groups' classrooms turned into areas for different puzzles and games.

Tasks included building towers from playing cards and a sticky problem involving marshmallows and cocktail sticks.

All tasks for the week involved recyclable materials where possible and the theme was the Three Little Pigs.

A school spokeswoman said: "The children worked very well together and the younger ones had the opportunity to learn from the older children. Fun was had by all!"

New uniform is tot fashion

PASSMORES: A baby boom in the Tendring Road school's staff room has prompted a new line in pre-school uniform.

Four babies were born to members of staff and the tots gathered for a fashion photo call in their new outfits. New baby-grows given to the children state 'When I grow up I want to go to Passmores School and Technology College' alongside the school emblem.

A school spokesman said: "The staff in question have been juggling sleepless nights trying to deal with the little ones with trying to help pupils through their crucial GCSEs and SATs exams.

"The babies looked really great in their new outfits and we hope they attend the school when they are big enough."

COULD YOU BE A FOSTER CARER?

There is an urgent need for foster carers in London and the surrounding area

Anne Moore, Regional Manager in London and the surrounding area, said: Foster carers have a vital role to play in giving London and the surrounding areas children and young people the best possible start in life and we need to recruit a whole range of carers who reflect the diversity of the children and young people who need foster care.

You may wish to look after children for short periods of time or you may prefer to care for a young person until they reach the stage in their life when they can become independent. There is a particular need locally for people who have skills and experience to care for children aged 10+. We would be delighted to hear from individuals/families interested in offering such care or those with previous or current experience of working with young people in this age group.

Anne added, many people do not come forward to foster as they believe they are not eligible, however we are trying to encourage applications from all walks of life. You may be married, live as a couple, or be single or divorced.

You may be employed, unemployed or retired. You may be a home owner or a tenant.

We welcome applications from all ethnic backgrounds, cultures and religions.

Many prospective applicants are worried about the process however, it is important for applicants to know that support is available throughout the whole process. Free training is available before applicants begin the assessment, which is part of the process of becoming a foster carer and usually takes about 3 months to complete.

Once you become a foster carer our qualified and highly experienced staff provide ongoing support and are available 24 hours per day, therefore you are never alone. In addition further training is provided in order that foster carers gain valuable skills, knowledge and experience.

Being a foster carer is a challenging profession but if people feel they have the skills, patience and space to look after a child we urge you to come along to one of our local recruitment events and find out more, alternatively visit our website or telephone for further information.

Is it a bird? No, it's a flying fish!

EVER heard of a flying fish? Well one has been filmed doing just that for a full 45 seconds.

The amazing footage, taken by a film crew in Japan, shows the creature gliding above the sea for a staggering length of time before disappearing below the surface. Believe it or not flying fish are common in warm or tropical waters and are regularly seen in flight for a few seconds at a time.

They have long fins which act like wings and they create thrust by wagging their tails along the water.

There are said to be around 50 species which vary in length and agility. It is thought they take to the air to catch small insects hovering above the water as well as using the skill to escape predators like swordfish.

Despite their well-documented ability, experts think the flight caught on film is the longest time that a fish has been recorded airborne.

However, its antics are by no means the most amazing to be reported.

According to some sources, flying fish are said to be able to almost double their speed by flapping their 'wings', reaching speeds of up to 40mph. There have also been reports of fish soaring hundreds of metres into the air.

SFS Foster Carer

Fostering. I Care. Will You?

Help a child show their true colours, become an SFS foster carer.

Hundreds of children in your community need temporary and permanent homes with someone to care for them.

We are recruiting carers from a wide range of backgrounds and are particularly interested if you can look after children over 10 years of age, teenagers or a child with a disability.

If you can offer a child a caring home we will provide:

- Training
- 24 hour support
- Generous weekly allowance of £378 to £756 per child.

Supported Fostering Services is a Charity, rated as outstanding at our recent Ofsted inspection.

eMag a big hit with female surfers

A CHARITABLE online magazine set up in Harlow is in the pink after establishing itself as a must-visit website for women of all ages.

The brainchild of mother and daughter team Lynn and Ria Culver, Pink Wishes – www.pinkwishes.co.uk – has built up a loyal readership since going live towards the end of last year, offering a range of style, beauty and health tips for women.

Originally set up as an online forum for cancer sufferers after Mrs Culver lost her sister to the disease, the site has since developed into a fully fledged webzine packed with exclusive interviews, health and beauty content, lifestyle and even recipe ideas.

In addition, an online store sells branded accessories, including beauty cases and credit card holders, with 10 per cent of all profit made by the site being donated to breast cancer charities.

Speaking from the company's headquarters in Greenway Business Park, Mrs Culver – who has survived breast cancer herself – told the Star she was amazed at the increasing popularity of her website.

"When I set the site up I never thought it was going to attract this much attention," she said. "We now get over 100,000 hits a month and I'm pleased to say we've even got some men visiting the site regularly!"

"I was originally inspired to set the webzine up after battling breast cancer and sadly losing my sister to the disease.

"I found that whenever I logged on to a charity website offering help and support for cancer sufferers, I never found the information I wanted.

"But at the same time, I didn't want the site to be solely about health, which is why we've been working hard to turn it into more of a lifestyle magazine, with fashion, beauty, food and shopping sections – that's why our motto is 'me time, online!'"

Time's up for market trader

By CHRIS MOSS

moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ONE of Harlow's longest-serving traders will soon be packing up his wares for the last time after his business stalled in the town's ailing market.

Howard Green (53), the owner of Howard's watch repair stall, has worked the market for more than 30 years, taking over the business from his father-in-law, market founding member Bernie Sharpstone, 15 years ago.

Originally named Bernie's, the booth has stood in Market Square for 52 years but now Mr Green – who is also the chairman of the Market Traders' Association – cannot afford to keep it running after alarming drops in his revenue forced him to look for another job.

"I can remember a time when we had so many customers we didn't even have time for a tea break from opening until closing time," he said.

"Now I'm lucky to get a couple of customers in a day. It's such a shame that it's come to this but if I carried on with the stall I wouldn't be able to pay my mortgage bills."

Mr Green claims that a substantial drop in the number of shoppers visiting the Market Square area of town was partly to blame for his struggle and criticised the council's refusal to relocate the market to a more suitable position.

TIME OUT: Harlow Market trader Howard Green is giving up his watch repair stall after more than 30 years (photo: MJN2MPCQ/02)

"I have tried to get the council to listen to the needs and wants of both the market traders and the public and get the market relocated up to Broad Walk, but all to no avail.

"It wouldn't only benefit us, it would be of reciprocal benefit to the shopkeepers; we could feed off each other. But even if things change under this new council administration it's come too late for me and no doubt it will be too late for others.

"The way we've been treated by the council over the years – and this market has been in serious decline for a long time now – is appalling. If it wasn't for the market, which used to be the lifeblood of the town, Harlow wouldn't even be here today."

A Harlow Council spokesman said: "Proposals are currently being worked up for the regeneration of the northern part of the town centre which will include proposals to enhance the market.

"Discussions have and will continue to take place with market traders both on these long-term plans and how we can best support the market in the short term.

"The council has also started to distribute leaflets to attract more traders to the market."

Shop for skills

TOWN centre shoppers will soon be able to pick up new skills along with their groceries when a learning shop opens its doors.

Local Learning Limited will unveil the Learning Shop, in West Gate, next Friday to complement the charity's current resource centre in Slacksbury Hatch.

It will offer users a broad range of tailor-made training programmes to help them achieve their learning goals, working towards GCSE-equivalent qualifications in literacy and numeracy, as well as several sought-after IT awards, including NVQs.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell said: "This is a really good example of where the Government is working with agencies to improve people's skills."

Fair exchange at PO

HOLIDAYMAKERS in Harlow now have easier access to on-demand foreign currency thanks to a new initiative from the Post Office.

The Bush Fair branch, at 1-2 Corner House, has stocked up on a variety of currencies to meet demand in time for the half-term holiday, offering zero per cent commission on their transactions.

The move builds on the Post Office's position as the largest provider of foreign currency in the country, with customers already able to get their holiday cash from the main Post Office, in Market Square.

Travellers can also take advantage of a range of other travel services including insurance, passport check and send and holiday phone cards.

A branch spokesman said: "This is a great addition to the travel services available from local Post Office branches. I'm sure our customers will appreciate the convenience of being able to pop into the Bush Fair branch to pick up euros, dollars and other popular currencies."

Youngsters pick up Chief awards

KNOT TO BE: Beaver Alex Yates demonstrates the newly acquired skill of tying shoelaces which earned him a Scouting award

PERSONAL challenges ranging from learning to tie shoelaces to organising and completing a two-day expedition have resulted in prestigious awards for Harlow Scouts.

Eighteen youngsters aged 7-18 from all sections of the Scout movement descended on Ingatstone Hall, near Chelmsford, last Sunday to collect their Chief Scout Awards.

The badge is the highest qualification any Scout, Cub or Beaver can attain in their particular section of the movement, and rewards personal improvement and achievement.

Rebecca Earl (11), of 2nd Great Parndon Scout Group, was among those who attended. She achieved her award by writing a report on Scouts from Gran Canaria who visited Harlow last year.

"I enjoyed working towards my award. It was great fun and I feel so proud to have achieved it," she said.

Meanwhile, seven-year-old Beaver Alex Yates got his award for overcoming his inability to tie shoelaces. He is pictured here practicing his new-found skill.

● SCOUT groups throughout Harlow are in urgent need of new adult volunteers to help run activities.

The number of Scouts in the town has increased by 2.2 per cent in the last year but further expansion is impossible without more leaders coming on board.

Trevor Chappell, 1st Kingsmoor leader, said: "If I had more adult volunteers then I could take on more young people as I have a large waiting list."

"Fun is not just enjoyed by the young people but also by the adults who provide the programme. Scouting opens your eyes to new horizons and allows you to help young people to develop while having great fun."

Sue speaks out for compassion

A MOTHER is using the 10th anniversary of her son's death to raise the profile of a charity which helped her with the pain of loss.

Sue White, local organiser and helpline volunteer for The Compassionate Friends, first came into contact with the charity following the death of her 18-year-old son Paul in a car accident in 1998.

Mrs White, of Mabeys Walk, High Wych, said: "I contacted TCF four months after Paul died, desperate to speak to another mother who would be able to understand the pain I was suffering – how Paul's loss reached every part of my life and how I did not want to live any more without him. The mothers who replied became my lifeline and, along with my husband John and surviving son Gary, my reason to survive."

To find out more about TCF, call 0845 1232304 or visit www.tcf.org.uk.

Volunteer offer

PEOPLE wanting to make friends, learn new skills or give something back to the community can find out about volunteering opportunities at a special event next week.

Harlow Volunteer Centre will be running an information stall all day in Harlow Central Library, in Broad Walk, on Tuesday as part of National Volunteering Week.

Manager Della Nash said:

"Volunteering opportunities are so varied and interesting, there is something for everyone – becoming a school governor or occasional driver, befriending a person with a disability, taking minutes at meetings, organising events, conservation work, helping a sports club or raising funds are just some of the activities volunteers are needed for."

Anyone unable to get along on Tuesday can find out more by visiting the Volunteer Centre at 3 Wych Elm or calling (01279) 308310.

Gymnastics help pays off for agile Brownies

BROWNIES in Epping were dancing with joy after gaining their agility badges.

Epping Sports Centre Gymnastics Club's head coach Carrie Bywater visited the group a few weeks ago to teach some basic rules, after which the girls were set a challenge of developing their own sequences.

She returned last week to see the results and everyone got their badge.

Brownie leader Julie Taylor said: "The girls worked really hard on designing and practising their sequences and they turned out great. The exercise was practical, informative and fun."

Vintage effort for hospital

A CLASSIC car enthusiast from Harlow is to drive his rare 76-year-old vintage Ford to Paris to help raise cash for the local hospital.

Steve Brazier (54), of Potter Street, will join about 400 other drivers for the run to Disneyland Paris in his Model A.

Nicola Alcock and expects the stunt to raise at least £1,000 for the neo-natal unit at the Princess Alexandra Hospital – where Nicola's daughter and Steve's granddaughter Lucy received lifesaving care five years ago. To make a donation towards the appeal, call Steve on (01279) 432432.

Chorus excels with a heavenly performance

IN their second visit to this church in as many months, Harlow Chorus performed a mix of traditional choral music by Brahms, a 19th century interpretation of Bavarian folk tunes by Edward Elgar and the 20th century jazz of George Shearing.

In their traditionally lighter May concert, the evening opened with Carl Weber's Invitation To The Dance, a duet for the piano performed by Susan Graham Smith and Elizabeth Shepherd.

It was gentle and playful, literally an invitation to dance, with the four hands playing with the scales in a wonderful display of co-ordination and co-operation between these two accomplished pianists.

Daniel Hyde, the relatively new musical director of Harlow Chorus, then took the stage, giving the audience an overview of Brahms' Liebeslieder Waltzes, describing them as visions of courtly love.

This set the scene perfectly for the Chorus to deliver the German lyrics clearly and in harmony, setting out the first steps in courtship, through the frustration and confusion of these new feelings and on to the bewildering array of emotions this brings with it.

The piece by Mike Cornick, a contemporary British jazz composer, was entitled Latin Suite For Piano Duet, in three movements which moved effortlessly through the styles of the beguine, the slow tango and the conga.

The highlight of the evening was most definitely It Was A Lover And His Lass, which was bouncing and playful with close harmony, the use of syncopation and Chris Hill's bass playing adding razz, a real treat for the ears!

The second part of the evening began with a piano duet by Moritz Moszkowski entitled Spanish Dances, where Ms Graham Smith and Ms Shepherd performed pieces one and four. The final six pieces were a selection from Edward Elgar's From The Bavarian Highlands.

The choir obviously enjoyed these challenging pieces and this pleasure shone through. As usual, Elgar was spirited and bold but certainly not beyond the capabilities of Harlow Chorus.

Spotlight turns on the young arts achievers

(photo: FQTXV9XW/07)

THE achievements of young people involved in local groups have been celebrated at an annual showcase in The Playhouse.

More than 140 youngsters took part in the second Jack Petchey Arts Showcase, representing eight local organisations.

During the evening, there were presentations of Jack Petchey Foundation medallions to those who had achieved either outstanding arts leadership or success.

On the night, 40 young people collected medallions from Nikki Bush, of the Jack Petchey Foundation, and a further seven adults collected leader awards for their work with youngsters.

By
JIM TANFIELD

All winners of the medallions came from Essex Dance Theatre, Harlow Ballet Association, Harlow Rock School, Harlow Steelband, Hip-Hop Pop, Livewire, Playhouse Theatre School, Razed Roof and Harlow Youth Council.

Leader awards went to Sam Ashford (Livewire), Jeanne Stacey (Phoenix Theatre School), Denyse Barwick (Harlow Steelband), Henrietta Branwell (Harlow Ballet Association), Emma Logan (Razed Roof) and Louise Gregg and Kirby Purse (Essex Dance Theatre).

A spokesman for the council said: "The evening was a huge success and the quality of all the performances was very impressive.

"It was a fantastic opportunity for local arts organisations to collaborate in putting together a show in celebration of local young people. The audience cheered on all the performers and the award winners and really enjoyed the evening and the young people that took part in the event really rose to the occasion, with fantastic performances and a very positive and professional approach to the evening."

Harlow MP Bill Rammell had been down to present awards but due to the Commons vote on abortion he was unable to attend.

MUSIC Marigolds Jazz Club celebrates its fifth birthday in style on Friday with the return of some perennial favourites. The Great Wee Band are bringing their unique brand of jazz to the Old Harlow Cricket Club, prompting one member to take a look back at the last five years. The club's Paul Baxter reminisces on the anniversary: "Before the club was started there was little live entertainment in Old Harlow, especially for the wider community. A small group of jazz enthusiasts, principally, Greg Racey, Bob French and Vince Dunn, decided to do something about this." This year, recognising that many of the audience were also blues fans, the club has diversified to form Marigolds Blues Club, whose gigs are held on the middle Friday of the month. Tickets for Friday are £6 in advance from (01279) 414174 or £7 on the door at 7.30pm.

ART A free exhibition of the intricate and complex sculptures of Gerda Rubinstein continues at The Gallery At Parndon Mill, off Elizabeth Way. By Hand And Eye features examples of her work, giving an insight into why the Harlow sculpture collection is so fond of her contemporary creations.

CHILDREN Children's favourite Barney the Dinosaur makes prehistoric tracks for The Playhouse tonight (Thursday) and tomorrow for four shows. Barney Live! - The Let's Go Tour sees the purple one and his friends discovering a magical toy factory. The shows begin at 1pm and 3.30pm and tickets are £12 (£10 children) from (01279) 431945.

WRESTLING The parallel world of wrestling comes to The Playhouse on Saturday at 8pm. Wrestlefest X: Palace Of Pain brings its usual mirth and mayhem, together with dancing girls and a couple of clowns to boot. Tickets are £12 from (01279) 431945.

CHILDREN Epping's St John's School pupils will be performing their own drama and musical compositions to The Playhouse on Wednesday from 7.30pm. Tickets are £7 (£5 concs) from (01279) 431945.

WEDDING BELLES: Cynthia Nixon, Kristen Davis, Sarah Jessica Parker and Kim Cattrall in SEX AND THE CITY: THE MOVIE

GENTLEMEN, lock up your credit cards and prepare yourselves for emotional blackmail from your partners – the fabulous foursome are back and bitchier than ever.

As wives and girlfriends troop en masse to the local multiplex to watch Carrie Bradshaw and co indulge in nearly two-and-a-half hours of sex, shopping, tears and tantrums, take solace in the calm before your newly empowered woman returns home laden with Prada bags and sporting a pair of Jimmy Choos.

An exaggeration, to be sure, but love it or loathe it, there's no hiding from the fact this big screen

SEX AND THE CITY: THE MOVIE
certificate 15, running time 2h 25m

debut is set to capture the hearts and minds of women, gay men and aspiring fashionistas everywhere in the same way the TV show continues to do so a full four years after it came to an end.

As for the plot, it has always been secondary to the increasingly provocative ways the writers handle touchy taboo subjects, so expect plenty of nudity, bizarre sex and adultery as the girls return to remind the New York high-life what it hasn't been missing.

The ongoing saga of will they/won't they between neurotic journo Carrie (Sarah Jessica Parker) and womanising hotshot businessman Mr Big continues, with the possible ring of wedding bells in the air, while veteran man-eater Samantha (Kim Cattrall) struggles to come to terms with playing a more subservient role to her film star boyfriend.

Meanwhile, cutesy housewife Charlotte (Kristen Davis) does a Madonna and adopts a baby from an impoverished family, while glum-faced lawyer Miranda (Cynthia Nixon) is forced to deal with her husband's infidelity.

So for all those Sex And The City fanatics desperate for a timely fix of high fashion, lowbrow smut and middle-class amorality, this should do the trick nicely – for everyone else, it's only three-and-a-half months before the football season starts again ...

INDIANA JONES AND THE KINGDOM OF THE CRYSTAL SKULL
certificate 12A, running time 2h 2m

THE wise-cracking, fedora-wearing adventurer is back for more thrills, spills and booby traps after 19 years in semi-retirement – but this time he's brought some reinforcements.

Unlike Sylvester Stallone's botched resuscitation of his two heavyweight aliases, this is much more than a mere vanity project for sexagenarian Harrison Ford, pictured above, who slips back into his khakis with such ease you soon forget he's ever been away.

The year is 1957, the Nazis have long been consigned to the dustbin of history and Indy has toned down his adventurous ways to live a life of relative tranquillity.

But all that changes with the advent of the Cold War, when those pesky Communists become America's new public enemy number one and our intrepid hero is forced out of retirement to save the world once again.

Bringing up the rear is hip young rock 'n' roll greaseball Mutt Williams (Shia LeBeouf, convincingly aping Marlon Brando's role in The Wild One), while Dr Jones' former love interest Marion Ravenswood (Karen Allen) makes a welcome return to spice up the on-screen chemistry.

The intrepid triumvirate are soon hot on the trail of an ancient artefact said to have supernatural powers – The Crystal Skull – which the Russians want to use as a weapon of mass destruction.

But standing in their way is sinister sword-obsessed agent Irina Spalko (an icy Cate Blanchett) and hordes of impassive communist soldiers, as well as the trademark traps, snake pits and curses.

sound check with Chris Moss

THE former frontman of semi-legendary snarling shoegazers Spiral Soul jacks in the skyscraping riffs to go all mellow and acoustic on us? Well, stranger things have happened...

Not one to rest on his laurels, Keiren Mitchell has been a rather busy chap since taking the decision to plough his own furrow several months ago, reinventing himself as a lonesome travelling troubadour.

But he's now taking tentative steps back onto former territory with his latest project, DayPilot. Like Beck's more introspective moments, the sound is all lilting, stripped-back poetics, juggling lost loves, new dawns and gentle - almost pastoral - psychedelia a la Six Organs Of Admittance. With only three roughly

SCRIPT OF THE BRIDGE (25th ANNIVERSARY EDITION)

The Chameleons (double album, Blue Apple)

The album played inbetween The Smiths by art college freshmen in the early '80s gets to breathe its dreamy pop to the masses again. The Rochdale sound, while undeniably of the Morrissey/Marr zeitgeist, is more ethereal than their vegetarian neighbour's and their influence can be heard in other bands such as James, Inspiral Carpets, The Cure and The Associates. The album never achieved great fame outside of underground indie circles, which is a surprise given the quality of tracks such as Up The Down Escalator and Don't Fall.

FLIGHT OF THE CONCHORDS

Flight of the Conchords (album, Sub Pop)

It's almost possible to fracture your skull laughing to this impossibly funny TV comedy duo who take the Mick out of practically every modern musical genre. Prince, Bowie, Shaggy, Marvin Gaye and The Pet Shop Boys, all get the Conchords treatment, the highlights being the cod 'rap off' Hippopotamus vs. Rhyemenoceros and Robots. Blissfully hilarious and musically decent

BEFORE THE DEVIL KNOWS YOU'RE DEAD

(Entertainment In Video, 18, retail &amp; rental)

Veteran director Sidney Lumet puts a fresh spin on the old heist-gone-wrong formula by using it to detonate a family's hidden rage and deceit. Andy (Philip Seymour Hoffman) is an outwardly successful executive with a beautiful wife and flash lifestyle, but he's been dipping his fingers deep into the company's coffers to fund a sizeable drugs habit and looks ripe to go down in flames as the auditors arrive.

His somewhat gormless but amiable younger brother Hank (Ethan Hawke) is struggling to put his bratty daughter through expensive private education and is behind on payments to his hostile ex; he's also drinking way too much and having an affair with Andy's wife.

Andy lights the fuse to this unstable power keg when he hits on the idea of robbing their parents' jewellery store – nobody gets hurt, mum and dad get the insurance and the brothers get out from under financial ruin.

But when Hank quails and enlists a small time crook to help him out with the raid, it all goes to Hell in a handcart as his accomplice and mother fatally shoot each other.

Both Hoffman and Hawke give excellent performances, the former charting Andy's volcanic unravelling with a palpable suffocating tension, and they're well matched with a somewhat over-the-top but credible turn from Albert Finney as their distraught and vengeful father.

The narrative unfolds in back-and-forth jumps of time, a structural device which works well in the first act although it becomes a bit over-used; nevertheless, this is masterfully taut film-making and a superb showcase for the varied talents of its leads.

JAMAICA INN

(Network, 12, retail)

Daphne Du Maurier's atmospheric ripping yarn of wreckers and smuggling in early 19th century Cornwall is well translated in this 1983 mini-series.

Jane Seymour is Mary, a young woman whose seafaring father is killed by wreckers when his vessel is lured onto the rocks for its cargo and whose mother expires shortly thereafter from grief.

Propelled into the care of her unbalanced aunt Patience (Billie Whitelaw) and half-insane alcoholic uncle Joss (the magnificent Patrick McGeehan) at remote Jamaica Inn, she slowly comes to realise that her new home in the wilds of Bodmin Moor is the centre of a criminal ring and the scene of much plotting and bloody murder.

Seymour is perhaps too ridiculously pretty to convince as Mary, but otherwise makes a good job of playing the Bronte-esque heroine, while Whitelaw and McGeehan both deliver memorable performances as eccentric gothic grotesques and Trevor Eve makes an effective counterbalance as Joss' roguish but likeable sibling.

Director Derek Marlow plays to the story's strengths, making excellent use of the wild locations and shooting as if he's making a ghost story for added ambience.

THE DEATHS OF IAN STONE

(Entertainment In Video, 18, retail &amp; rental)

Poor Ian Stone – after escorting his girlfriend home following a hockey match, he encounters a strange bundle at a level crossing and, getting out to investigate, is promptly hurled in front of a train.

But death is just the start of his troubles as he snaps to in another life only to brutally murdered by some sort of shape-shifting creature, and the pattern goes around again and again, each new life giving him just enough time to snatch a few fragments of information about what's really going on before he's back on the slab again.

It seems his tormentors are supernatural creatures thriving on human fear who have discovered that scaring people to death is too good a rush to quit and who can't be hurt – except Ian (Mike Vogel) managed to kill one of their number and they're hurling him from one death to another in a bid to find out just how he did it.

Director Dario Piana makes a good job of fusing elements of horror with science fiction in a fast-paced film whose shifting realities give it strong overtones of Dark City and The Butterfly Effect, and he uses his creatures sparingly enough to lend them a real menace.

Star rating: ★★★

WALK HARD: THE DEWEY COX STORY

(Sony Pictures, 15, retail &amp; rental)

John C Reilly stars in this mockumentary charting the rise, fall and rise of fictitious musician Dewey Cox.

Cox is largely an amalgam of Johnny Cash and Jerry Lee Lewis and his story appropriates bite-sized chunks of their careers as he battles booze and his womanising ways while constantly being re-invented for each new musical era.

There's plenty of scope and enough biopics such as Walk The Line and Great Balls Of Fire to provide the material for lampoonery while giving the audience a familiar narrative template.

But while Reilly does an excellent job, this is a long way from the sharp observation and laugh-out-loud hilarity of This Is Spinal Tap and seems content merely to poke broad fun at the pomposity of its cinematic sources.

Star rating: ★★

THE KILL POINT

(Lionsgate UK, 15, retail)

The criminally underrated John Leguizamo finally gets to show the extent of his dramatic chops as the leader of a group of disgruntled Iraq war veterans who decide Uncle Sam owes them big time and embark on bank robbery to square the debt.

Naturally, it goes wrong and they find themselves pinned inside the bank with a disparate group of hostages and Donnie Wahlberg's grammar-obsessed cop negotiator on the phone, while in the wings a shady millionaire takes his own steps to get his celebrity daughter out, department politics sees the FBI choppered in and the gang's own friends on the outside start planning to get them out.

Stretching a bank heist over eight episodes might seem a tall order, but the quality of writing, direction and performance are never less than thoroughly compelling.

WAITED UP 'TIL IT WAS LIGHT

Johnny Foreigner (album, Best Before)

Wow! Just as we were resigned to drown under the relentless sea of droning, moaning, over-produced, emo rock crud, along comes one of the most exciting indie acts in years to make everything alright. With the exuberance of a live gig but bags of imagination, ideas and originality to boot, this loud, raucous riot is one to stick on repeat – and it gets better every time. The male/female vocal interplay is spot on – like The Subways with muscle and attitude courtesy of The Pixies – and the lyrics manage to not be completely brainless either.

MUDCRUTCH

Mudcrutch (album, Reprise)

Not, as their name might suggest, the latest pseudo-Satanist knuckleheads to emerge from the burgeoning Norwegian death metal scene; these Southern gent are, in fact, Tom Petty's first psych country band who released one single back in the '70s before parting company. Fast forward 35 years and Petty decides to reunite with his old chums to release the debut album that never was – a haunting, born-on-the-bayou slice of gothic Americana that holds its own among The Heartbreakers' finest. Organ-drenched epic Crystal River is Creedence and The Grateful Dead waltzing on the moon, while Bootleg Flyer is a ragged boogie that channels the duelling guitars of The Allman Brothers.

IN SILICO

Pendulum (album, Warner Bros)

Described variously as "transonic", "clattering" and even "incredibly exciting" by awestruck hacks desperate to latch on to the next big thing, Australian danceheads Pendulum look set to conquer the airwaves with their messy mash-up of drum 'n' bass, pop, rock and mariachi. But while eclecticism is praiseworthy, there's a sense they've hurriedly dressed up some bog-standard d'n'b with stadium rock bells and whistles just to win themselves Radio 1 ubiquity. Scratch away the strikingly self-conscious cool and you soon realise there's little here to get in a lather over.

INTERIORS WITH FISHPOOLS

A WORLD OF FURNISHING IDEAS

If you've just decorated but still think there's something missing that you can't quite put your finger on, try adding a few accessories to complete the look.

That certain something...

Think of a room like you would think about an important outfit - whether it's for a sophisticated dinner or going out with your friends you dress to impress, but sometimes you can't help but feel that there is a little something missing - so what do you do? You add accessories to finish off your outfit. So why not think about your home in a similar manner - those little extras do make a big difference.

Accessories are a fantastic way to breathe some new life and instantly update your home and Fishpools has everything you could possibly need. We even have our own department dedicated to accessorising your home and our expert staff are on hand to answer all your questions.

If you have opted for a plain décor you have the world at your feet! Try adding a hint of colour, bright fresh citrus colours are fabulous for the summer months. There are some terrific ways to introduce these colours into rooms whether it is a slight hint or to brighten the room completely.

To accessorise the room subtly use exotic fruit such as lemons or limes. On their own or mixed together they look fantastic in a large glass bowl placed by the fireplace or on the kitchen table.

Aire

Winchester

For a more daring look use brightly coloured vases for your fruit arrangements or create a 'talking point' amongst your friends and place bold abstract prints on your wall.

If you want to add some interest to your seating arrangements why not scatter some different coloured cushions? Red and green cushions look great alongside black and white stripes on neutral backgrounds.

As well as scatter cushions, Fishpools has a large selection of throws which are great for either your bed or the living room. For your bed silk throws add a touch of glamour and for the living room why not go for something a bit cosier, such as cashmere as it is ideal to snuggle up in.

Candles are another good buy for instantly accessorising a room. Long tall coloured candles look fantastic when lit and give off a romantic glow. And even unlit they still add colour and act as a great finishing touch.

Fishpools also has an excellent range of lighting products which can update and accessorise the house, whether it is the perfect table lamp to read under or a central ceiling light to brighten the whole room.

If you want to make a statement then opt for something more grand and glamorous - chandeliers are right on trend now and with the 'Winchester' and 'Aire' styles available at Fishpools you can see why.

Something that is often forgotten about but which can instantly change a room is flooring. For an inexpensive way to update your look why not add a rug? If you have a wooden floor any colour will look superb and will add comfort and warmth.

If you feel like being brave why not invest in a summer blue or a classic purple rug which look great against any shade of flooring. Don't worry if that isn't your cup of tea - neutral tones such as creams and browns still look fabulous and you can afford to be a bit adventurous with materials such as thick wool which is very comfortable under foot.

And finally you can't go wrong with fresh flowers, whether you are lucky enough to be treated or you like to treat yourself at the local florists they are perfect to add colour and fragrance to any room. If you want your floral arrangement to last and don't fancy a standard pot plant, Orchids are a simple yet striking alternative.

Group stars with Patrick Arundell
 ...telling you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
 The desire to have your say grows. If you're just as determined to hear others out - great - a true flow of ideas, thoughts and emotions can go back and forth. However, Mercury can make mischief as it begins a backward spin. Very easily good intentions can go astray on the back of misunderstandings. Words and documents will need extra care therefore. Call now for more.

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
 Venus glides into the most sensual of chart areas, and both your sweet tooth and love of sweet nothings can be triggered. However, someone can be tricky about the cash they owe, so you'll have to stay firmly on the case if you don't want to risk losing out. Midweek can see you highly motivated around home changes, you may even do some DIY! Call for your in-depth forecast.

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
 Feeling more alert? Leapt out of bed at the crack of dawn? Ready to take on all-comers? You've the recent arrival of the Sun in your sign to thank. This week, Venus arrives, too. If you've been plagued by uncertainties around your love life, or there's been a parting of the ways, a chance to begin again. Generally, you can find folk much more receptive to you. Call now for your love scope in full.

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
 If someone tells you something in confidence, it may put you in an invidious position. Perhaps you'd rather not be party to what they share or you don't agree with them on a delicate subject. Be guided by your own moral code, Cancer. The upside is that confidential discussions connected to business can go well - as long as the terms of reference are clear. Call me now for your financial forecast.

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
 You can be the leader others gather behind and particularly mid-week, if there are big targets that you aspire to, these too can power forwards. And you can also find yourself with lots of choices when it comes to who and where you spend your leisure time. Yet despite this, last minute changes of plan are almost a certainty. Try to take these in your stride. Call for more news and astral advice.

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
 If our worldly role were based on an exact, strictly drawn up contract, we'd all know what was expected of us. Yet much of what we do is governed by an innate sense of a right and wrong, and by the knowledge that basic decency, despite its flaws and inconsistencies, governs our conduct. Yet, you may become a bit baffled by what's expected of you now. Call now for your in-depth forecast.

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
 The world is your oyster, but if this isn't obvious, the trick will be to spot and then prise open any opportunities. And if you still remain unsure, ask someone who can give you some solid guidance. However, the likelihood is that you'll have the drive and nous to do this on your own. Independent thought and actions are going to come more easily to you now. Call for more news and advice

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
 Your sex appeal skyrockets and with the warmer weather kicking in, it'll feel good to be at your alluring best. Financial prospects are split. A property deal can hit a snag or you can be confused as to whether to move or stay put. Keep a firm grip on your business interests or personal investments and they can do well. A partner's expertise can be key to progress. Call me now for more astral advice.

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
 Whether a bustling street in a village or a huge thoroughfare in a city, there's something highly stimulating about being around people going about their business and the whole concept of interaction can take on an added edge. And Venus's super harmonising vibe can lead to great responses. Choose to meet people half way, there's such a lot to gain. Call now for your forecast.

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
 Formal affairs require an unstinting attention to detail. For as soon as you take your eye off the ball, you're likely to get caught out. Yet being disciplined can have its upside. Savings can be made on everyday costs, and you'll show a steely determination to get the best deals. Try to amuse or flatter a tricky face. They'll soon melt under a charm offensive. Call me now for more news and advice

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
 There's a side of you that can be perfectly happy alone, and another that loves to join in with the gang. And it'll be the latter that now comes to the fore. All sorts of amusements can take on more appeal and whether it's flying a kite with the kids, to getting up and doing a star turn on the karaoke machine, you can shine. Most of all you need to feel involved. Call now for your love scope in full.

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
 If gardening is a passion you can find yourself happily immersed. Growing your own vegetables can also give you enormous satisfaction. Then again, if you've a home-based hobby this can seem more pleasing than usual. Unspoken truths in the family may, however, cause concern. A kindly member of your clan may help to mediate between different factions. Call your prediction line for more news.

500 miles ahead in style

Fiat's 500 is the citycar of the moment so JUNE NEARY takes one for a test drive . . .

I AM pleased to say that I don't remember the original Fiat 500. It was half a century ago that car was launched after all.

So I can't tell you whether the latest Fiat 500 is a true retro tribute to the original. Sorry. But of course, like me, you don't care. All that matters is that it's cute, it's nippy and it's the latest thing to be seen in.

A MINI? That's so yesterday . . . I was a bit disappointed to learn that for all its Italian heritage, this car is in fact built in Poland.

Oh well, better news comes in the realisation that it shares its platform with the next generation of Ford Ka and, as even I know, that car has a reputation to keep as a fabulous steer.

At 1.65m wide, 1.49m high and 3.55m long, the 500 doesn't take up a great deal of space. For reference, a MINI is 1.91m wide, 1.40m high and 3.68m long: in other words much wider, a little lower and a fair bit longer.

Even Renault's second-generation Twingo, at 3.60m, won't fit into some parking spaces the 500 will be able to squeeze into.

My local Lidl supermarket has a ridiculously tight underground car park, so I can testify to the benefits of this.

Delicious design details drip from the 500. It's like a tiny pearl, especially when the ivory finish interior fitted to my test car is specified.

There's a very well-judged blend of retro chic and ruthlessly modern contemporary design inside, with circular head restraints, a glass roof and iconic 500 badging on the Panda-sourced dashboard.

Chrome-ringed vents and a fascia that can be specified in the same colour as the body are just some of the interior design features.

The exterior treatment is cool and clean, too. The neighbours had a Fiat knows how to make great little engines for great little cars.

Indeed, the 75bhp 1.3-litre 16v Multijet diesel engine fitted to the 500 is so good that it rather overshadows the otherwise excellent pair of petrol powerplants. These comprise an entry-level 69bhp 1.2 8v and a punchy 100bhp 1.4-litre 16v.

Five- or six-speed manual transmissions are offered and the 500 has apparently been designed to replicate the original car's nimble feel and ability to put a smile on its driver's face.

You do have to qualify all of this by pointing out that all of this under-bonnet stuff is available in a car that costs significantly less, offers five rather than three doors and boasts extra luggage space: Fiat's own Panda. But then, you only live once and how often are you going to need five doors in a citycar anyway?

If it helps you to justify things, Fiat claims that body rigidity is around 10 per cent better than the Panda, so in theory the 500 should be slightly more crash-proof.

When this car was first mooted, Fiat talked of a starting pricing at around the £10,000 mark, a move that would have seen this model dead in the water before it started.

Fortunately, wiser heads prevailed and, at a starting figure of £7,900, the 500 looks decent value.

If you don't care about badge equity, don't mind about the fact that you get only three doors and get the right deal, the Fiat will make plenty of sense.

Fiat's Panda is one of the cheapest cars to own, so the 500 will prove little different.

The Multijet diesel version will average over 65mpg, with the 1.2-litre petrol unit not far behind on around 50mpg.

Depreciation won't be anything like at MINI levels but will be much better than you'd expect on a Panda. Which is good news since insurance costs shouldn't be much more expensive.

I much prefer this approach to retro design to the kind of thing BMW have delivered us with the MINI.

It seems more real somehow – and infinitely more exciting. The fact that it's more affordable too is just the icing on the cake.

Right now, this is the most fashionable thing to be seen in up and down the high street.

How long it will remain that way is, of course, quite another question.

Invest in Yourself and Beat the Gloom

With the supposed credit crunch looming, companies laying off people or being over cautious about recruiting the right person, this may be the time to look to invest in your personal development and put yourself right at the top of the pile when applying for a job.

We can help you to strengthen your CV and become a top level PA; a Book-keeper with Sage Line 50; a Legal or Medical Secretary; a Receptionist; an IT Technician and much much more. Our wide range of short courses and longer term Diplomas will help you gain the skills needed by employers in all industries.

Pitman Training courses range from basic computing and keyboard skills to secretarial diplomas, accounting and even web design. But what makes Pitman Training different is that it's a completely flexible way to learn. Unlike traditional colleges, with Pitman you don't have to wait for the start of a new term. You can start learning when you are ready and study at the pace and the time that suits you. Study times can be fitted in around work or family commitments and a tutor is always on hand to answer questions and provide encouragement.

We are having an OPEN WEEK from Monday 2nd - Saturday 7th June. Call into our Office located in the centre of Bishop's Stortford between the Pizza Hut and Saffron Building Society between 10am and 5pm and we can talk through your future personal development plans.

Pitman Training, 15 Market Square, Bishop's Stortford, CM23 3UT. Telephone: 01279 466200

Box Office Assistant (Harlow Playhouse)

Reference: PH0030

Salary: £14,132 - £14,929 (pay award pending)

Harlow Playhouse requires a full-time Box Office Assistant to work in its busy Box Office.

This is a permanent position offering a contracted 37.5 hours a week, part of which will be taken up by evening and weekend work.

You will be able to demonstrate experience in customer care and have a vibrant and outgoing personality. A demonstrable ability to work well under pressure is required and an appreciation of the Performing Arts preferred. Although previous experience of working with ticketing software would be an advantage, this is not essential and training will be provided.

At Harlow Playhouse we pride ourselves on providing a first rate service to all of our customers. Here is your chance to be a part of the region's premier live entertainment venue.

A job share will be considered for this position.

Closing date: 13th June 2008.

Casual Building Caretaker (Harlow Playhouse)

Reference: PH0215

Salary: £7.22

Due to increased activity within Harlow Playhouse, we are now looking to recruit a pool of casual building caretakers to assist in the general security and customer service provision at the Venue.

Responsible to the Technical Operations Manager, duties will include opening and locking up the building, providing general customer service to users of the facilities, some tidying up duties and to raise the alarm in the event of an emergency. This post will require you to be aware of health and safety practices and to be proactive in reducing the risks to the building and those using it. Variable and unsociable hours will be part of this job.

If you are an enthusiastic team player who can always maintain a good sense of humour, here is your opportunity to play a leading role at Harlow Playhouse.

Closing date: 13th June 2008.

Casual Technical Assistants (Harlow Playhouse)

Reference: PH0005

Salary: £10.37 hour variable

Harlow Playhouse is expanding their pool of casual technical assistants to help the technical team in the backstage responsibilities of running this increasingly busy venue. You will be working with people who have an established reputation as one of the best and most customer focused teams in the country.

Responsible to the Technical Operations Manager, duties will include maintaining backstage areas in good order, liaison with incoming companies and organisations, assisting getins and getouts and the smooth running of performances.

A knowledge of technical theatre is required for this role and the ideal candidate will ideally have experience of working backstage in a theatre environment or have completed a recognised technical theatre qualification though this is not essential.

If you are an enthusiastic team player who can always maintain a good sense of humour in a pressured environment, here is your opportunity to play a leading role at Harlow Playhouse.

Closing date: 13th June 2008.

Harlow Council operates a No Smoking Policy

Benefits Officer

Reference: RB0040

Salary: £24,751 - £25,744 (pay award pending)

We are looking for an enthusiastic person to join our busy, but friendly benefits team. You will work as part of a team responsible for the assessment and payment of housing and council tax benefit. The role involves managing claims to benefit from customers, assessing entitlement, changes in circumstances and visiting customers in their home as part of this process. You will also be required to resolve customer enquiries by telephone, correspondence and in person.

You will be a highly organised individual who can work on your own initiative, have previous experience of benefits administration and a good working knowledge of housing and council tax benefit legislation.

This is a great opportunity to join a forward thinking service where initiative and new ideas will be actively encouraged. We are committed to ensuring our service is high performing and customer focused, therefore if your aspirations match ours, we want to hear from you.

Closing date: 6th June 2008.

Clean Neighbourhoods Enforcement Officer

Reference: EH0212

£23,263 - £24,256 (pay award pending)

Clean neighbourhoods and a pleasant environment are high priorities for the residents of Harlow. The Council is actively targeting the minority of individuals who are responsible for littering, dumping, graffiti, vandalism, dog fouling and other "enviro-crimes", which can spoil the environment for the majority.

We are seeking to recruit a committed and enthusiastic person to join the Enforcement Section of the Community Safety Team. You will work to reduce environmental crime by carrying out investigations and surveillance leading to enforcement action, including the issuing of fixed penalty notices in the field and the preparation of reports and files for prosecution. You will need to be a confident person with the ability to conduct yourself in potentially hostile situations in a calm and assertive manner. The post will suit individuals with previous enforcement or investigative experience, although this is not essential.

In addition to enforcement activity, the post demands excellent communication skills, using awareness raising to change potential offender's long-term behaviours. This requires the ability to speak to individuals and groups across all age ranges.

The ability to work occasional evenings and weekends, is also essential. You must be able to make regular visits to all parts of the town, including extensive foot patrolling, and hold a current driving licence.

Closing date: 13th June 2008.

Application Forms are available for collection from:

a breath of fresh air enforcement and administration manager

£27,370 - £31,133 p.a. (inc local weighting - Pay Award pending) Ref: DS006 Buntingford

Everyone's got an opinion about parking in East Herts - but have you got what it takes to help keep our car parks running well, our permit parking schemes operating smoothly and traffic in our market towns flowing freely?

You'll lead a team delivering the Council's parking enforcement and related services and will be the key link with front-line and support colleagues in our Bishop's Stortford and Hertford offices. You'll prepare management information and reports for internal and external use and will maintain important relationships with bodies such as Herts County Council and the police. You'll work with neighbouring Councils to which we supply an enforcement service and will manage the Council's dealings with the Traffic Penalty Tribunal.

You'll be able to demonstrate a thorough understanding of the legal and administrative procedures involved in civil parking enforcement and a proven track record in the use of information and communications technology to deliver parking services. Just as important will be a commitment to excellent customer service, which you'll use to shape and deliver services in a constantly changing environment.

For an informal chat about this opportunity contact Andrew Pulham, Parking Manager, on 01279 655261 ext 2030.

To apply call Sandra Allport on 01279 655261 ext 2039, email parking@eastherts.gov.uk, or visit www.eastherts.gov.uk/vacancies.

Closing date: 5pm, 23/06/2008. Interviews: 07 or 08/07/08.

Benefits include local government pension scheme, free life insurance, minimum 27 days leave and childcare vouchers to help working parents.

A chance to succeed

It's an exciting time for East Thames Group working in east London and Essex — our key areas of operation. With a focus on the Thames Gateway and the Olympics we are committed to more than double in size by the year 2012.

East Potential is part of East Thames Group and one of the most powerful forces for regeneration in east London and Essex. We pioneer independent living, community involvement and employment and training initiatives. Expect real involvement within a well-managed organisation that's closely in touch with its people.

Time for Youth is a service within East Potential which works to address offending and anti-social behaviour amongst young people between the ages of 11 and 24, using one-to-one mentoring and group programme support.

Sessional Mentor

Ref: SM080501269

SALARY: £15.50 per hour HOURS: Minimum 4 hours per week
LOCATION: East London and Essex / Barking and Dagenham

We are looking to recruit Sessional Mentors to work in East London and Essex. Our mentors work with young people from 11 years to 24 years. Our clients may face a range of issues day to day, and need support with problems related to school or anger management, safety, peer pressure, drug/alcohol misuse or lack of motivation. Some young people need help with goal setting - most of these young people are volunteering to have a mentor and want your support to take positive steps into work or training.

In general, Mentors meet with each client 1 hr or 2 hrs per week and the work involves working in the neighbourhoods where we have a presence.

We will assess your training needs and successful applicants will receive an induction course and training as required.

The hours for this post are on an as and when needed basis but at least 8 hours per fortnight can be guaranteed. The nature of the post will require some evening and weekend work.

In return for your commitment, we can offer you an exceptional range of benefits including excellent training opportunities and personalised development, access to a company pension scheme, annual health check and healthy lifestyle advice and support, plus all the encouragement you need to achieve your career goals.

Closing date: 12noon on 11th June 2008

Avio-Diepen

CUSTOMER SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE

Avio-Diepen, founded in 1946, is one of the leading distributors in commercial aerospace ($100 million). The Company involves worldwide inventory management solutions, including customised integrated supply programs, kit packaging and related inventory management services. In addition Avio-Diepen distributes a complete line of aerospace parts and components for Airframe, Engine and APUs, serving more than 1900 OEMs, Airlines and MRO customers worldwide.

Avio-Diepen is a long-term partner to both Boeing and Airbus with headquarters in The Netherlands and offices in the UK, USA and Hong Kong. As a result of continued success we are looking to recruit an individual to assist in the logistics operation. The position will be based at our facility in Bishop's Stortford.

THE ROLE

You will be responsible for the efficient administration of Sales from enquiry through to delivery. Key tasks will include the processing of customer orders, preparation and management of quotations and close customer interface arising from customer demands/automated stock replenishment using specially designed software.

THE REQUIREMENTS

You enjoy working in a small sales organisation and possess first class liaison skills, an excellent telephone manner and strong software skills. Previous experience in a customer service or similar role is required. Experience of the Aerospace/Aviation industry would be a distinct advantage, as would use of computerised inventory management systems (IT skills and the ability to learn new systems is required). A thorough, disciplined approach to work and the ability to meet strict deadlines is required. Some elements of training will be required in The Netherlands.

The position will play an important part in the success of the UK operation and for the right candidate we will offer a competitive salary with 23 days annual holiday. Normal office hours will be 8.30am-5.00pm Monday-Friday. Previous applicants need not apply.

To apply, please send your covering letter, full CV and salary details by email to: diked@avio-diepen.com or in writing to: Mr D M Ikeda, Branch Manager, Avio-Diepen BV, 40 Raynham Rd, Bishop's Stortford, Herts CM23 5PE

Closing date for receipt of applications: 13th June 2008

25 hours per week

SEN and Children with Additional Needs is seeking a new member of the Parent Partnership Team in the Harlow Area Office. This involves working with parents and carers of children with special educational needs and additional needs within the local authority's framework of Parent Partnership and the context of the local authority's SEN and Children with Additional Needs Strategy.

We are looking for someone who has knowledge of SEN legislation and procedures, and who is committed to developing partnership with parents. You should have excellent communication skills and be able to work effectively with a wide range of people and as part of the team. Competent administrative skills and experience of databases would be an advantage.

Flexibility, initiative, organisational skills and a sense of humour will be essential qualities. You will need a current driving licence and use of a car or access to transport and a driver. For applicants with a disability, the scope for reasonable adjustments will be explored.

For an informal discussion, please telephone Janet Hill or Clare Woodcock, Parent Partnership Managers, on 01245 436236.

Application packs for the above roles can be obtained by contacting the Essex County Council recruitment line on 08448 920992, e-mail essexcc.jobs@capita.co.uk or minicom 0870 169 9734.

Closing date: 13 June 2008.

GARDENS GALORE!

HANGING baskets are a sure-fire way of adding a mass of colour and texture to the outside of your home - but what if your patio is north-facing? How are you going to make a dull shady area sizzle with colour?

Many gardeners avoid placing hanging baskets in shade, but there are some plants that will do well without direct sun and still provide a splash of colour where it is needed.

The most obvious bedding plants which can withstand shade are Busy Lizzies, which you can plant successfully in wire hanging baskets, not just on the surface of the basket but also in slits in the liner around the sides. Trailing varieties of Busy Lizzies including 'Spellbound' are now available, to provide your shady spot with a ball of colour all summer.

Alternatively, if you want an ideal specimen in the centre of your basket, go for one of the New Guinea Busy Lizzies, which are larger and more leafy.

But while most bedding requires some direct sunlight, you can create wonderful hanging baskets from plants which provide contrasting foliage and texture.

Mix leafy plants including begonias and hostas with spiky grasses and flowering ferns for an eye-catching contrast.

There are some fuchsias which will do well in the shade, including F. 'Eva Boerg', whose trailing stems of deep rose-coloured flowers cascade beautifully over a large pot.

Whatever you choose, remember that hanging baskets can dry out easily in shade, just as they do in sun.

EARLY JUNE JOBS

* Look out for ants in containers. If you see hordes of them, tip out the contents, remove the nest chamber and repot the plants with new compost before it's too late.

* Plant out hardened-off annuals when frosts are over.

* Start to cut lawns with naturalised bulbs, making the first cut high.

* Prune deciduous spring-flowering shrubs over three years old as they finish flowering.

* Move houseplants away from south-facing windows so they are not exposed to too much direct sun.

* Take cuttings from fuchsias to provide a batch of young plants which should flower in autumn.

Paceman breaks Hertford

Hertford 128, Sawbridgeworth 132-2

Sawbridgeworth won by two wickets

(Home Counties Premier League, div two east)

SAWBRIDGEWORTH skipper Danny Wilson joked that even he was scared of his own bowler – as West Indian paceman Andrew Richardson put the fear of God up Hertford.

Last Saturday's win saw Richardson bowl brilliantly to take 5-32.

Then, 17-year-old opening batsman Steve Ashman scored 62 not out – his first league half century for the first team – as the hosts reached the modest target of 129 with 28.5 overs to spare.

Wilson said: "Andrew [Richardson] just terrorised them. I was scared at first slip and I was 45 yards away and not 22!"

"He was bowling in the mid to late eighties (mph). He made them play at everything – he got it into the right areas and it was a joy to watch."

Hertford skipper Scott Ruskin won the toss and elected to bat, but the visitors collapsed dramatically to 19-4.

Openers William Bancroft and Krishan Canagasabay put on 16 (nine were extras) before both were bowled for 4 and 3 by Richardson.

The quick bowler then had Richard Cordingley caught at slip by Tom Small before the Hertford captain gloved an unplayable delivery to Simon Greenall.

Hertford's overseas player, Sandan Dias, then counter-attacked smashing a 28-ball 40 in a fifth-wicket stand of 46 with Ollie Ray before the former was caught by Ryan Cunningham at cover off Richardson.

After Richardson came off, Paul James struck, having Tom Bancroft fall to a brilliant catch at leg slip by Dean Lloyd.

Ray, who had batted patiently for 13, was bowled by Cunningham to leave Hertford tottering at 83-7.

Chris Box (17) and Lee Beskeen (14) added 23 for the eighth wicket before Wilson had both players caught behind in his first two overs.

Cunningham then had Nizar Mohammed caught for 6 as Hertford went for 128.

In the third over of Sawbridgeworth's reply, Lloyd survived an early scare as he was caught off a Dias no-ball.

Lloyd and Ashman put on 57 for the first wicket, before the former was bowled by Mitchell Perry for 14.

Small was trapped lbw to Box without scoring to leave the hosts on 58-2.

Wilson batted fluently sweeping the spin of Canagasabay, while Ashman blossomed and scored the winning runs with his 11th four.

Gunners ace praises Maiden in festival win

EX-GUNNER Ray Parlour presented Maiden Youth Under-13s with their trophy after the Harlow team won the Sci-Football Festival Mitre Cup tournament held in Hastings, East Sussex.

Maiden competed against sides from Berkshire, Hampshire, Hertfordshire and Essex for the trophy.

The competition was held over two days and was contested on a league basis.

Maiden won all four games on the first day – the best result was a 7-0 win against Hutton (Essex).

Three games were played the next day and the results were just as impressive as Maiden won two and drew one, conceding only two goals and scoring 17.

Manager Martin Godfrey and coach Cliff Perry were thrilled with the team's performance and congratulated the boys on achieving a second successive tour championship. The side won a similar tournament held at Great Yarmouth, Norfolk, last year.

Street secure final triumph

Potter St 2, Faces 1 (aet)
 (Denny King Memorial Cup final)

POTTER Street rounded off a fantastic season by completing the double when they beat Faces FC after extra time in the Denny King Memorial Cup Final.

Street had already won the LFC Insurance Essex Olympian Football League senior division one title before they faced Faces at White Nottley FC on Saturday.

Senior division one side Faces started brightly with Damien Yoxhall and Shawn Farnham causing the Potter Street defence problems.

Street fell behind on 25 minutes. Faces midfielder Ricky Downs beat his marker and fed Yoxhall, who finished clinically from 12 yards.

Street's player-boss Rob Campbell brought Mickey Kennedy back into midfield and pushed Chris Groves into a more forward position.

This change resulted in Potter Street being able to control the midfield and impose their attacking game on Faces.

After the break, the balance of play swung in Potter Street's favour.

The home side achieved a memorable victory with an over and a half to spare and two wickets in hand.

The win capped a 500-run feast which saw the batsmen prosper and bowlers struggle.

Mickey Kennedy, Groves and Kerry Walton all had chances, while the Street defence were only faced with long balls.

Street finally equalised on 76 minutes. Kennedy beat two players and then cut in and unleashed a ferocious drive from 25 yards that left the Faces goalkeeper with no chance.

James Soilleux and Groves both came close with headers before the game went to extra time.

Street's winner came on 100 minutes. A three-man move ended with Groves setting up Scott Poole who skipped two challenges before bursting into the penalty area and firing home. Poole was named man of the match for this strike.

Kieran Whelan, Street's manager, said: "Obviously we are delighted with the result and with the season. We dug deep today and deserved the victory. Williams, Devonshire and Poole all produced great performances today.

"But the stand out for me was Dalby in goal. If it wasn't for him we might have been two or three down at half-time."

He added: "Some people doubted us this season but it's a great feeling to prove them wrong."

"You don't win 23 out of 26 games in a league without playing good football."

"We've improved the quality this season and we'll look to improve for next season too."

Rivals beaten as Epping seal points in big-scoring game

EPPING smashed more than 250 runs to defeat local rivals Woodford Green at Lower Bury Lane.

The home side achieved a memorable victory with an over and a half to spare and two wickets in hand.

The win capped a 500-run feast which saw the batsmen prosper and bowlers struggle.

S. Singh showed how easy the pitch was to bat on as he struck a fine 115 for Woodford and set his side on the way to a commanding 249-7 total.

For Epping's bowlers spin was most profitable with skipper Shahid Majeed 4-124 and Inzy Hasan 3-45 bowling 40 overs between them.

Jason Whiting started the Epping reply with his customary belligerence, making 27 before he was bowled by Raza.

Jacob Ellis (38) and Geoff Maynard (48) then laid the platform for the Epping victory surge.

Amjad Khan (40) and Farhan Haq (23) chipped in as the hosts finished on 253-8 to claim the victory.

Biggest run chase keeps Town in pole position

A SUCCESSFUL run chase wiped out the memory of a poor fielding display as Harlow Town triumphed at Roding Valley in division three of the Lord's International Herts & Essex Cricket League.

Responding to the hosts' 246-7, Town lost Pat Yates early on but Ramir Upadhyay struck 97. He fell just short of his first ton for the club but completed a fine all-round performance.

Upadhyay received good support from Ashley Alderson who struck 56.

The pair were still at the crease when 70 were needed off the last 10 overs. Both fell before Marc Lowers (19 not out) and Paul Calver (12) guided the visitors to victory.

Lowers hit the winning boundary with seven balls and three wickets to spare.

Earlier, Town had won the toss and paid the penalty as catches were dropped. The hosts reached 200 before the second wicket fell which presaged five more in the closing stages.

Bradley Knapman's knock was the basis of the Roding innings and he struck 97 before he was bowled by Lowers.

Upadhyay was the pick of the Town bowlers, taking 1-23 from 10 overs.

Lowers said: "It was a challenge as this was our highest run chase that we have had since joining this league in the last two years. "Ramir is a talented batsman and his bowling is very hard to get away."

In the same division, POTTER STREET (261-5) picked up their first win by beating Elsenham (149) by a whopping 112 runs.

In division five, Harlow Town seconds (132-5, Paul Smith 52 not out) preserved their 100 per cent record when they beat Little Munden (131, Oliver Souter 4-29) by five wickets.

Harlow Town thirds (119) lost by 128 runs against Chadwell Heath (247-9) at home in division seven.

Thatcher doubtful for Paralympics

NOEL Thatcher may miss out on making this year's Paralympics in Beijing but the distinguished 42-year-old Harlow Running Club member still came in the top 10 at the Hatfield Broad Oak 10K.

Partially-sighted Thatcher – whose many achievements include taking gold and bronze medals at the Sydney Olympics in the year 2000 – has been troubled by a knee injury.

The Bank Holiday Monday race was marred by heavy rain and Thatcher completed the course in 34 mins 7 secs to come ninth.

Thatcher, left, of Bishopsfield, said: "I might miss out on the Paralympics. I am close to the qualifying time but have to do more to be really competitive.

"It was really hard at 3km but as the race went on it got better for me. I overtook three people in the last kilometre."

Nearly 30 Harlow runners joined 1,000 in the annual race held in wet and windy conditions.

Other Harlow RC results: Alan Broughton 40th, 36:57; Roy Steven 78th, 39:49; John Tennant 79th, 39:51; Jamie Luck, 40:25; Justin Revell, 40:11; Rick Ricketts 101st, 40:30; Andrew Terrell 126th, 41:19; Graham Thomas 135th, 41:38; Jon Steadman 148th, 42:00; John Bull 249th, 44:34; Martin McColgan 276th, 45:25; Jennifer Spelling 294th 45:41; Pasquale Pelleccchia 304th, 45:54; Vicky Steadman 338th, 46:46; Graham Saville 368th, 47:34; Derek Seymour 376th 47:41; Dionne Jones 388th, 47:34; R.A Newton 457th, 49:17; Anne Kleijwegt 499th, 50:20; Steven Reid 505th, 50:29; Karen Moir 580th, 52:20; Linda Selby 583rd, 52:26; Ron Luck 601st, 53:11; Alison Bull 626th, 53:38; Sarah Webber 707th, 54:56; Martin Patch 786th, 57:23; Kim Wookey 875th, 1hr 1.51; Karen Phillips 917th 1:02.54; Sean Fowler 918th, 1:02.54.

● SHARON Wright was the quickest of Harlow Running Club's contingent competing in the second of the women's 5km series.

She recorded 22 minutes 5 seconds. Jennifer Spelling was second home in a thrilling finish. She was a fraction of a second behind Wright in 22:06.

Vicky Steadman (22.13) was shortly behind those two.

There was also an excellent performance from veteran 60 runner Jo-anne Mills, who came home in 26:07.

Other times were: Anne Kleijwegt (V35) 24:36; Karen Moir (V40) 24:49; Linda Selby (V55) 25:12; Alison Bull (V40) 25:51; Ann Somerville (V35) 25:55; Debbie Attridge (V40) 25:58; Cathy Brown (V50) 27:07; Sharon Coleman (V35) 27:26; Wendy Spring (V35) 27:52; Donna Rushell 31:48.

GPCA top dogs in premier division

IT has been another exciting season in the Harlow & District Football League.

In the premier division it was a two-horse race between GPCA and Parndon Royals with GPCA eventually coming out on top.

GPCA completed the double when they overcame Rouge Lyon in the Premier Division Cup final.

Division one proved to be the tightest of all the divisions with Old Townmead taking the title on the final day by goal difference from Lindsey Street.

Division two Pools took back-to-back titles, claiming the championship by one point over FC Parkside.

Brookside overcame Ridsden Wood A to take the division three title. They grabbed a double by defeating Maiden in the Division Three Cup final.

Dynamo stormed to the division four title, while in division five Epping took the honours.

A special mention must go to Maiden whose first season in adult football saw them finish third in division three, reach the quarter-finals in the League Cup, and finish as runner-up in both the Division Three Cup and the Essex Junior Trophy.

League official Paul Groves said: "This was an incredible achievement for everyone with the club.

"Next season will see 10 new clubs join the League as we go from strength to strength."

Harlow's a great home for junior league

A BASKETBALL supreme's bold vision to take a popular competition out of its Hertfordshire heartland and bring it to Harlow has proved a massive hit.

Shab Niaz's decision to bring the Junior Central Venue League (JCVL) across the border from its previous home in St Albans has been backed up by the success of this year's competition, which ended last weekend.

Two out of three of Harlow Hawks junior teams finished as runners-up in their age groups, while players, club officials and parents have given the competition the thumbs up. "Despite initial reservations by some at the start of the season when it was suggested that the JCVL will be run in Harlow, it has proved to be very successful with positive comments from club officials, parents and players that have been involved in the JCVL with them looking forward to next year," explained Niaz.

The Hawks U-11 team were guaranteed second place behind MBA 1 from Stevenage.

This proved rather fortunate as many senior players missed the final game as they had booked tickets to see the legendary Harlem Globetrotters at Wembley Arena.

This allowed coach Niaz the opportunity to give some younger players a taste of the JCVL.

The side suffered heavy losses in the first two games to MBA 1 6-41 and NHK 2 12-38 (Baldock, North Herts) but came through in the final game with an excellent team display to beat MBA 2 26-18 to cap off a wonderful season.

The previous week, Hawks U-14s were in the runners-up spot ahead of North Essex, heading into the final fixtures. However, they were missing some players too. One of the teams in this age group, North Herts Knights, were unable to make the final event of the season therefore boosting Hawks' chances but it still depended on the results on the final day.

In their first game Hawks faced Ware-based Leopards who were undefeated.

The Harlow team produced their best basketball of the season in the first half but in the second half the Leopards stepped up a gear and made their size count to win this match 55-22.

In their second match a fresh North Essex team made light work for the win (68-19).

This made for an interesting final game of the season for the U-14 division as a win for North Essex would snatch runners-up spot and spoil Leopards' unbeaten record.

In what proved to be a thrilling game that went to the wire, Leopards managed to hold on for a one-point win to keep their unbeaten record intact. But more decisively for Hawks, the result allowed the Harlow team to finish as runner-up.

Hawks' other junior team was in the U-17 age group and they finished third.

Harlow had a chance of snatching the runner-up spot but needed to beat both teams above them.

Their task was made even tougher as they only had six players available.

The winners of the U-17 division were Ware Leopards with Colchester finishing as runner-up.

Town duo shine in Essex success

Athletics

MARK Hunt and Calvin Barnes helped Essex to victory in the UK Inter-Counties Championships at a wet and windy Bedford International Stadium.

The Harlow-based athletes came up against top class senior opposition for the first time.

After running his heat for the 400m Mark (17) was placed 4th in 49.7 seconds.

However, this was enough to put him into the B string final.

Mark was drawn in lane eight but flew out fast from the blocks and crossed the line in second place, losing out on first by the narrowest of margins in 48.6 a new personal best (PB). It is a time that will guarantee him selection for the All-England Schools Championships in Gateshead in July.

Mark currently ranks 13th in the UK for U-20 men in the 400m.

The next day (Monday) in abysmal conditions 19-year-old Calvin was placed 14th in the long jump with a leap of 6.55 metres.

At Ashford in the South of England Championships, Harlow's Tom Larkin placed a fine 4th in the 400m final (U-17 men).

He clocked a new PB of 51.73s.

Harlow's Tom Richards placed 7th in the javelin final with 47.01m which was also a PB.

Burnt Mill School's Sophie Fuhr reached the last 16 of the U-15 girls 800m after running a PB of 2 mins 27secs in her heat.

In her semi-final she was 8th in 2:30. This was a physical race involving a lot of pushing and shoving.

At Uxbridge in the National Junior Athletics League, Woodford had three Harlow-based athletes competing.

Cherice McKay (14) produced an excellent performance in the shot put, coming 5th overall out of 16.

She threw a new PB of 10.12m. This performance has more or less guaranteed her selection for Essex in August this year.

Harlow's Jess Docking carved another seven seconds off her 3,000m PB with a time of 11mins 13secs.

This placed her 5th in the B string event. Jess also clocked a very good PB in her first ever 1,500 metres steeplechase with 5:53.

Harlow's Dan Xaxley (15) ran a fine PB of 9:53 for 7th in the A string 3,000m.

Pair's random victory

KEITH Waddington (CC Foxes) and Andy Booth (White Admiral) triumphed in the Harlow & District Premier Darts League's annual random pairs knockout tournament on Friday.

A total of 54 players were entered at random and selected to play with other League members.

Runners-up were Ben Smith (Young Pretenders) and Pat Yates (Swift Halfs).

The winners, runners-up and semi-finalists donated all their winnings to the League's chosen charity the local branch of the Alzheimer's Society.

Raffle winnings were also donated, raising £260.

Narrow loss for Rockets

LUKE Bowen's Rye House Rockets team suffered an agonizing 46-47 defeat to Reading in the Premier Speedway League on Tuesday.

Hawks boss to lock horns with former No.2 in Ambers friendly

THE Hawks will face former assistant manager Gordon Boateng's new charges in a pre-season friendly.

Ryan Kirby's men will visit Cheshunt on Tuesday July 29 (7.45pm).

The Ambers were relegated from the Southern League premier division last season and have now switched across to the Ryman League where they will play in division one north, which is where Harlow were promoted from just over a year ago.

Three Harlow players turned out for Cheshunt on loan last season — Michael Boateng was Kirby's assistant for the first part of the 2007-08 campaign.

Harlow have also booked a pre-season friendly with Ryman division one north's

Enfield Town at Barrows Farm on Saturday July 26 (3pm KO).

Hawks stopper James Hasell will hope there is not a repeat of last season's misfortune in Harlow's pre-friendlies programme. He fractured a thumb socket during one match and this kept him out for the first three months of the season.

Harlow have already tied up other pre-season friendlies against two Football League sides. They host Southend on Saturday July 19 and Barnet on Tuesday July 22.

Batsman on-song as Harlow seal first win

A CONTROLLED century from Nilesh Odedra provided the foundation for Harlow's first league victory of the season.

He showed his experience and class, almost batting for the entire innings against Shenfield at Marigolds before he was caught at long on for 104 — while bowler Nick Butler took a crucial five-wicket haul.

Odedra opened the batting alongside Nick Butler on Saturday and the latter took the game to the visiting bowlers hitting three lovely on-drives for four before he was dismissed for a rapid 26.

Odedra was in the groove by this stage and was given good support by Haroon Khan (30) and, late on, captain James Butler (27), ensuring the scoreboard ticked over on the flat pitch.

New Zealander Tom Worthington then chipped in with 19 not out, finishing well with a six which landed on the pavilion roof.

Shenfield started well against the opening attack of Worthington and Zaphir Nazir, with neither bowler capturing the form of the previous week at Loughton.

James Butler juggled his bowlers. Odedra had Aussie dangerman David Griffith bowled for 32 after he had been dropped in the slips by the home skipper Butler off the bowling of Luke Heskett.

However, Shenfield reached 128-2 thanks to good knocks from David Walton (43) and John Walter (40) — and Harlow looked dead and buried.

But spinner Nick Butler was introduced to the attack and tore the heart out of the Shenfield middle order with his ripping off breaks, finishing with 5-28.

Captain David Wright came in at last man and batted manfully with James Kliber, blocking out seven overs.

However, Worthington was brought back. He rapped Wright on the knuckles before inducing a faint edge to the grateful gloves of young home wicket-keeper Nino Calvino to give Harlow victory with four overs to spare.

Skipper Butler said: "It was a good win and we have to keep playing positive cricket."

"Nilesh's ton was top drawer, he has a great temperament and he really batted beautifully. He can bat all day and contributed all day in the field."

He added: "Nick's contribution was also excellent. He got us off to a positive start with the bat and he got it in the right areas with the ball."

In the second XI division one, Harlow seconds (243-7, Nilesh Modhwadia 50, Lee Jessey 69, Ryan Jessey 74) drew with Shenfield 224-8.

Harlow thirds (189-6) lost to Chingford (190-6) by four wickets in division one of the third XI league.
